It is stated the Conservatives will bring Hon. R. J. Manion of Fort William, to address several meetings. Ernest J. Lemaire, Clerk of the Privy Council, is on his way to Vancouver to administer the oath of office to Hon. Ian Mackenzie toward the end of this week.

PREMIER AT KENTVILLE
Halifax, N.S., June 25.—The third and last meeting Premier King will address in Nova Scotia is scheduled for tonight. The Prime Minister will speak in Kentville, in the Annapolis Valley. There he will say goodbye to Nova Scotia and leave for New Brunswick to speak at St. John on Thursday evening.

The Prime Minister this afternoon left Halifax where he spoke yesterday evening.

DIPLOMAT OF JAPAN VISITS IN VICTORIA

M. Adachi, Former Ambassador to Belgium and France, on Way to Peace Conference

Pays Tribute to Hon. Herbert Marler, Canadian Minister to Japan

One of Japan's leading diplomats and statesmen, M. Adachi, former ambassador to France and Belgium, passed through Victoria this morning aboard the N.Y.K. liner Korea Maru with Lady Adachi. The former ambassador is on his way to Paris and Geneva to represent, at the latter place, his country, if elected by the other delegates to the Peace Conference.

"I have had two months only in Japan this time," said Mr. Adachi when seen in the lounge of the Korea Maru this morning. "I would have liked to stay longer but I am glad to be on my way to Europe again and especially glad that I shall have an opportunity of visiting in Canada and seeing this country for the first time in many years."

ROCK STAR IS WINNER OF IRISH DERBY

Writ Is Second and Christopher Robin Third in Racing Classic To-day

Curragh, Ireland, June 25.—Sir M. Wilson's Rock Star to-day captured the Irish Derby, classic of old Erin's turf racing.

Lord Astor's Writ finished second, and Colonel Gilles Loder's Christopher Robin was third. Twelve horses ran. Rock Star won by two and a half lengths, and was one of the favorites, paying 5 to 1 to win, 4 to 1 to place and 7 to 2 to show.

Three lengths separated the second and third horses. The race was over a mile and a half course.

The Derby stakes were worth 4,300 pounds sterling approximately $20,000.

NEW ZEALAND IS ASKING CANADA SEND ENGINEER

Canadian Press via Reuters
Wellington, N.Z., June 25.—Services of an "outstanding Canadian engineer" are required by New Zealand. The government has asked its trade commissioner in Canada asking that he secure such a man.

The "job" is that of affecting repairs to the recently completed Arapuni Power Plant. Canada's great strides in the science of building and maintaining such power plants is largely responsible for the fact that a Canadian is wanted.

JUDGE SAYS VIOLENT ACTS CONDEMNED

Mr. Justice MacDonald Comments During Dr. Latimer Appeal in Vancouver

Counsel For B.C. Medical Council and Physician's Council Heard

Vancouver, June 25.—"Nobody has the right to take the law into his own hands," said Mr. Justice W. A. MacDonald in B.C. Supreme Court here to-day when H. B. Robertson, K.C., counsel for the B.C. Medical Council, commented during the hearing of Dr. Victor E. Latimer's appeal that any man who did "should be hanged."

Dr. Latimer, husband of Helen Oliver, who was the complainant against Dr. Latimer, O. I. Fraser, the appellant's counsel, stated that Oliver had testified: "I should have killed that is the kind of man Oliver is," added Mr. Fraser. "He does not know the character of his wife."

KERSHAW TRIAL OPENS BEFORE CROWDED COURT

John Kershaw Pleads Not Guilty Before Assize Jury

Evidence Given To-day Follows Closely on Lines of That Produced in Police Court

Scores of men and women were this morning unable to gain admission to the Assize Court to hear John Kershaw tried by Mr. Justice Gregory and a jury on a charge of theft of $770 in cash and $337.47 from the Sisters of St. Anne. After the jury had been selected, His Lordship found it necessary to order the courtroom doors locked to prevent disturbance of those who wished to gain admittance.

The proceedings this morning followed closely the evidence submitted at the preliminary hearing before Magistrate J. J. in the City Police Court, when A. M. Johnson, K.C., conducting the prosecution and M. B. Jackson for the defence. The accused pleaded not guilty and considerable delay was caused when Mr. Jackson sought a larger allotment of pre-trial challenges than the Crown was willing to concede, and Mr. Jackson exhausted the allowance accorded by the court before the jury was completed. J. T. Redding was chosen foreman by the jurors.

OUTLINES PROSECUTION
Explaining the case to the jury Mr. Johnson stated that the Crown would not go further back than April 17 last, when it was alleged the accused conspired with Miss Rita Vaughan, former stenographer and bank messenger of St. Joseph's Hospital, to stage a "stick-up" which was several times deferred before it was finally accomplished. The jury was informed that the evidence for the Crown would not touch upon the relations between the accused and Miss Vaughan other than to show they were good friends.

NEW SHIP WILL BE WELCOMED HERE SATURDAY

Pr. Prince Henry
The above photograph of the new palatial Canadian National steamer was taken as she steamed into Vancouver harbor last Saturday, completing her long voyage from Birkenhead, England, where she was built. The Prince Henry will arrive in Victoria Saturday morning to take a representative group of citizens for a luncheon cruise in the Gulf. In the evening the new coast liner will be open to public inspection, and thousands of Victorians are expected to board her.

ORDER MUSTER FOR ASSAULT AT MAPLE BAY

Fighting Men of Province to Stage Surprise Attack and Drill Up-island

Thousand Soldiers to Take Part in Manoeuvres; Leave City on Saturday

Orders for a general muster of British Columbia's fighting men to quell disturbances at Maple Bay on the last day of June have been sent out from regimental headquarters here, and troops are expected to converge on the Ux-Island point on Saturday in preparation for the attack.

Led by sailors from H.M.S. Dauntless, the First Battalion, Vancouver Regiment and New Westminster Regiment, the insurgents will attempt to defend their stronghold against the attack of the Fifth B.C. Horse, 15th Pz. Brigade, C.A. 52nd Howitzer Battery, C.A. 6th Pz. Company, C.E. 2nd A. Sec. 11th Fort. Signalling Company, No. 1 Company, 11th division Signalling, 2nd Infantry Brigade, B.C. Regiment (D.C.O.R.), Seaforth Highlanders and 16th Canadian Scottish.

STRICT SECRECY
Strict secrecy is being maintained regarding the plans of attack, since the tactics of the assaulting units are known only to the staff company and will be revealed to the troops only at the last minute.

The defenders are also keeping their plans under cover and intend to offer plenty of resistance to the invaders.

On Friday advance parties, including the cooks and quartermasters' staff will leave for Maple Bay to get the camp in shape for the troops, who will follow the next day.

NORTH CHINA TROOPS NOW HOLD TSINAN

Nanking Government Forces Driven From Capital of Shantung

Shanghai, June 25.—Defeated in sharp fighting north of the city, Nanking government troops to-day evacuated Tsinan, Shantung Province capital, and the northern rebels made an orderly entry, according to Japanese dispatches.

The Northerners crushed the Nationalist resistance on the north bank of the Yellow River and crossed the stream, leaving the Nationalists before them. Fifteen trainloads of Nationalist troops soon rolled southward and others followed.

LEBOU WINS AUTEUIL'S RACE

Paris, June 25.—The Grand Hurdle Race, one of Auteuil's classics of Grand Week, valued at 500,000 francs, was won by Lebou, owned by Arthur Vell Picard. Lebou is a six-year-old. Fonderdus was second and Effigant third.

The winner paid 4 to 1. The distance was three and one-eighth miles. The weather was good to-day and permitted a magnificent display of latest women's fashions.

Twenty-seven Planes And Hangars Burn

Loss in Fire at Chicago To-day Is Estimated at More Than $2,000,000

Chicago, June 25.—Two hangars and twenty-seven airplanes, twelve of them tri-motor passenger planes, were destroyed by fire at the municipal airport here early to-day. The loss was estimated at more than $2,000,000.

Official announcement was made at the offices of the Universal Air Lines that all schedules, both passenger and mail planes, would be flown without interruption.

The estimate of the loss was made by Universal officials. An elaborate machine shop, representing an investment, they said, of three-quarters of a million dollars, and much spare equipment, were destroyed.

CONSERVATIVE GOES OVER TO LIBERAL SIDE

J. J. Carrick, Supporting Premier King, Candidate in Port Arthur, Ont.

Says He Favors Prime Minister's Policy of Trade Within the Empire

Toronto, June 25.—J. J. Carrick, who as a Conservative received an acclamation in the Federal election in 1911, sat as a Conservative in the Ontario Legislature for some years and ran unsuccessfully as an Independent Conservative in the Federal election of 1925, has announced his acceptance of the nomination of the Liberal convention in Port Arthur-Thunder Bay in the coming Federal election.

The nomination was made in Port Arthur in the absence of Mr. Carrick in Toronto. In a statement given out here Mr. Carrick outlined his reasons for supporting Premier King and the Liberal Party.

"I wholeheartedly endorse Premier King's policy of trade within the British Empire," says the statement. "This was my slogan in the reciprocity election of 1911. This is my same slogan to-day."

Mr. Carrick stated he did not approve Hon. R. B. Bennett's attitude regarding the Canadian Northern Railway in 1914. "Port Arthur is a Canadian Northern Railway and Mackenzie-Mann city," continues the statement, "and if it were not for these two national railway builders we would have no Port Arthur as we have it to-day."

WILL INTRODUCE NEW SYSTEMS IN SUMMER SCHOOL

Teachers to Learn Platoon Method at Sessions Here From July 7 to August 8

Diversified Curriculum Expected to Draw Large Attendance From Province

The platoon education system, in which specialists in various subjects instruct the children in their particular courses, will be introduced into the curriculum of the 1930 summer school for teachers which will open at the Victoria High School on July 7, it was announced by John Kyle, director, to-day.

The Summer School executive has secured the services of Prof. Robert Straight, B.A., to act as principal in a platoon demonstration school which will be conducted at the same time as the teachers' courses.

Owing to the public interest displayed in platoon schools and junior highs, the executive decided to pattern the demonstration school upon this line.

Southern Cross, After Atlantic Hop, Is to Fly To-morrow to New York

CARAVANS SEEKING BIG LAKE TROUT
Mountain Climbing and Horseback Riding Also Enjoyed

Premier's Highway Party Spends Day at Fort St. James

Fort St. James, June 25.—In this historic Hudson's Bay post, first capital of British Columbia, and still a large fur-trading centre, Premier Tominer's Alaska highway caravan rested Tuesday after its strenuous traveling of the last few days.

For the first time on the trip the Premier was cut off from official business by lack of telegraphic communication and for once he did not have to make a speech. Instead, the whole caravan spent its time examining the old fort on the shores of Stuart Lake, buying moccasins from the Indians, climbing Mount Pope on horseback and fishing in the lake.

Everybody who comes to Fort St. James refuses to believe the natives' stories of their great fish. Knowing this, Mr. Tominer, veteran guide of Douglas Lodge, went out and caught three trout in a few minutes. Those provided dinner for forty-six people, and there was enough left in the kitchen to feed a dozen more. The smallest fish weighed eight pounds and was considered a poor minnow in this country, where they run up to twenty-five pounds.

As this dispatch was being written, to be telephoned into Vanderhoof, all the Americans of the party, inspired by last night's fish dinner, were leaving for the head of the lake, sixty miles away, to try their luck in the places where the really big ones live. Their accounts of the unsurpassed beauty of this place, and the quality of the fish, are expected to send many tourists here. Up to now few Americans have realized that one can reach the heart of the fur country by good road only forty miles from a transcontinental railway.

Plenty of accommodation was found for the entire party, at the two excellent hotels, which front on the lake, and which offer all the conveniences of the city in a country where moose are often seen by the roadside.

CRUISERS ARE TO BE BUILT BY BRITAIN

Replacement Programme Also Calls For Nine Destroyers and Three Submarines

Proposed Cost of $45,000,000 Be Spread Over Three-year Period

London, June 25.—The First Lord of the Admiralty to-day told the House of Commons that supplementary estimates in the government's 1930 naval construction programme would be presented shortly for three six-inch gun cruisers, nine destroyers, three submarines, four sloops and one net layer and target-towing vessel.

Mr. Alexander said orders for laying down these vessels would not be given until the last quarter of this financial year and that only a small sum would be required to be spent on the vessels specified.

REPLACEMENT SHIPS
"I would emphasize," remarked Mr. Alexander, "that these ships are required in replacement of others which have passed the age limit and to enable the navy to carry out its current policies in time of peace and that the programme has no relation to those of other powers."

The First Lord said he thought the six-inch gun cruisers would be of 6,500 tons, but he did not give the exact tonnage. He said the ultimate cost of the programme, spread over three years, would be about £9,000,000.

ITALY DISTURBED BY U.S. TARIFF

Rome, June 25.—The seriousness with which the Italian Government regards the possible effect of the new United States tariff was shown by the attention the cabinet gave the subject at to-day's session.

With Premier Mussolini presiding, the members discussed the new customs three times. The discussion will be resumed Saturday.

RUMORS ABOUT POPE'S ILLNESS HEARD TO-DAY

Reports Persist in Rome Despite Denial Authorized By Vatican Officials

Vatican City, June 25.—Reports still persisted to-day that Pope Pius was indisposed, despite a denial by authorized officials that he was suffering from a uraemic crisis.

It was learned several Rome doctors had been consulted recently concerning the Pontiff's aggravated bladder trouble, and that the possibility of an operation had been discussed.

It is most difficult to ascertain the exact nature of the Pope's reported malady since Pius XI, unlike his predecessors, has not appointed an "architect" or papal physician. The result is that whenever the Pontiff seeks the aid of medical science, two Milan, director of public health services of Vatican City State is called in. He is in no wise the Pope's personal physician and is not in daily contact with him and his calls on his patient are intermittent.

QUICK OF STEP
Vatican spokesmen, in support of their denial that there was anything grave in the Pope's condition, pointed to the energetic fashion in which he last conducted audiences of large groups, the quickness of his step as he circled around the big hall, the vigor and clarity of his speeches to pilgrims, and above all his unfailing joviality.

Kingsford-Smith and Three Companions In Good Condition At Harbor Grace, Nfld., Where They Landed After Flight From Ireland; Hope To Fly Famous Monoplane From New York To San Francisco.

Harbor Grace, Nfld., June 25.—The monoplane Southern Cross, with its crew of four men, landed here at 5:53 a.m. to-day (2:53 a.m. Victoria time) after spanning the Atlantic Ocean from Ireland, and the four men immediately made plans to fly to New York, then to San Francisco. Such a flight would virtually complete an around-the-world flight for the Southern Cross, which previously had been flown from San Francisco to Australia and England.

It was announced that following refuelling, the crew expected to hop off from here for New York at daybreak to-morrow.

The fliers experienced almost perfect weather until they approached the Newfoundland coast, when the trip almost came to an unfortunate end as fog enshrouded the plane. For more than an hour during the night the aviators flew blindly, and but for radio stations providing them with directions they might have been lost.

IN GOOD HEALTH
The fliers, Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, chief pilot; Evert Van Dyk, assistant pilot; J. Patrick Saul, navigator, and John W. Stannage, radio operator, were in good condition and excellent spirits when they landed here. They talked briefly of the dangers they had encountered and then all sought sleep.

Kingsford-Smith credited the radio with having saved himself and his companions, but said a shortage of gasoline was responsible for their having failed to reach the United States.

New York was the original goal of the flier, but when the weather conditions led them to doubt they would reach that city they set their hearts on at least landing in United States territory. By so doing they would have surpassed the distance record of the monoplane Bremen fliers on the first successful westward crossing of the Atlantic by airplane.

FIANCEE OF OCEAN FLIER HAPPY TO-DAY

Miss Powell, Australian, to Be Married to Kingsford-Smith in September

Melbourne, Australia, June 25.—Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith's pretty fiancée, Mary Powell, was the happiest girl in Australia to-day. She had faced bravely the difficult task of waiting for news of the safe arrival of the transatlantic monoplane Southern Cross of her adventurous husband-to-be.

"Isn't it wonderful?" she exclaimed. "My mother insisted I spend last evening playing bridge to keep me from worrying," she said with cheerfulness. "Oh, but what terrible things I did at bridge!"

Miss Powell was radiant with happiness.

"I could not refuse to let him make the attempt," she exclaimed. "It was the only big thing left for him to do in aviation. It would always have been there, nagging in the corner of his mind, if he had not done it."

"So I thought it was the best thing to let him get it over with. He promised that once the Atlantic flight was won he would not undertake any other big flights."

"Our marriage is fixed for September."

OCEAN FLIERS CONGRATULATED BY FOKKER

New York, June 25.—Anthony H. G. Fokker, who designed and built the monoplane Southern Cross at Harbour Heights, N.J., five years ago, to-day sent this message to Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith at Harbor Grace, Nfld.:

"Four wise command of the sturdy old ship has resulted in the first westward crossing of the Atlantic to an American airport. Heartiest congratulations from us all for yourself, Evert Van Dyk, John Stannage and Captain Saul. They must have played gallant parts in your struggle. That you have won through is another tribute to your genius for organization and command."

Former Governor Endorses Sargon

HON. CLIFFORD WALKER, Former Governor of Georgia

Hon. Clifford Walker, Twice Chief Executive of Georgia, Declares He Now Has More Energy and Is In Better Physical Tone Than He Has Experienced In Years

Former Governor Clifford Walker of Georgia, twice honored with the highest office the people of his state could give him, is prominent among the thousands of well-known men and women throughout America who have publicly expressed their gratitude for benefits they have obtained from the use of Sargon, the new scientific formula which has been accorded such enthusiastic praise wherever it has been introduced.

In his voluntary tribute to this celebrated medicine, this distinguished Southerner said:

"This season a friend of mine suggested Sargon. I was convinced from literature which I read that it was a scientifically prepared product and decided to try it. "Almost from the start its invigorating effects were noticeable. I seemed more alert, my appetite improved, my capacity for work was increased and I was conscious of a feeling of general well-being. I have gotten by the summer and am now entering the fall season with more energy and in better physical tone than I have experienced in many years. "From my own experience, I am convinced that Sargon contains certain therapeutic agents which are highly valuable wherever a tonic impression is required, and also for their influence upon the appetite and digestion. From its effects in my case I cheerfully recommend it as a tonic and corrective worthy the trial of all tired business men. "Sargon may be obtained at all Drug Stores in Victoria and Vancouver and Bews Drug Co. at New Westminster. (Advt.)

Solloway and Mills To Quit Business; Firm Fully Solvent

Twenty Offices Across Canada With $5,000,000 a Year Payroll and Overhead, to Close At End of Week; Principals, Now Out On Bail, Appealing Judgments Against Them and Plan To Enter Other Activities.

GRAIN BUSINESS, HOWEVER, TO BE CONTINUED BY BAWLFE

E. J. Bawlf & Co., one of the oldest grain firms in Winnipeg, has taken over the grain business of Solloway, Mills & Co., it was announced today by Dr. D. Warnock, manager of the Victoria office. All local grain business has now been transferred to Bawlf and the Bawlf organization directly will assume the wire service next Monday morning.

Solloway, Mills & Co. service and trading on the Vancouver Stock Exchange was suspended today. The exchange will hold a meeting Thursday to deal with the situation that has arisen. President Charles O. Pennock announced.

The following notice was posted today in the Victoria and other offices of Solloway, Mills & Co.:

"Solloway, Mills & Co., Ltd., will close its doors at close of business at 12 noon, Saturday, June 28. Wire service will be continued until that time to allow clients either to close out their accounts or transfer same to other brokers. We will appreciate it if our clients assist us in closing out our business with as little delay as possible.

"Solloway, Mills & Co., Ltd."

FORMALLY ANNOUNCED IN TORONTO

Canadian Press
Toronto, June 25.—Announcement that Solloway, Mills & Co. Limited, brokers, with offices from Halifax to Victoria, will discontinue business, is made in an advertisement which appears in Toronto newspapers this morning.

Saturday noon is given as the closing day to which time their usual service will be maintained in order to give their clients time to close out their accounts or transfer them to other brokers.

EFFECT MINIMIZED

Inasmuch as the staff of the company had already been reduced from about 1,000 at the first of December, 1929, to about 250 now employed, the suspension of business will not be as serious a blow as might otherwise have been the case.

The firm has twenty offices, exclusive of the Toronto head office, and owns upward of $1,000,000 worth of real estate, in addition to leases in respect of other branches. It is also the owner of fourteen seats on various stock exchanges, all of which are held in the names of employees rather than members of the firm. The company is owned by L. W. C. Solloway and Harvey Mills, other directors having only qualifying shares.

Relatively few clients are now on the books of the firm. When the principals were arrested and charges laid here and in Calgary, clients were notified they had until March 15 to close.

Many of them did so and since that time the business of the firm has been mostly in grain. Officials of the firm said that its overhead last year was nearly $5,000,000, all but $250,000 of which was spent in cash in Canada. Early this year the payroll was cut by $25,000 per week. It operated 115,000 miles of leased wires and employed forty telephone operators, held forty-one leases, owned fourteen exchange seats and employed upwards of 1,000 people.

SPEECH MADE TO BANQUET FROM TRAIN

J. C. Burkholder, C.N.R. Engineer, Speaks As He Travels Fifty Miles an Hour

Toronto, June 25.—For the first time in the world's history an address to an important convention where the speaker's voice registered perfectly while he himself rushed away from the convention in a Canadian National Railway train traveling fifty miles an hour towards Montreal, was made in Toronto last night.

J. C. Burkholder, chief engineer of the Canadian National Telegraphs, spoke to the annual dinner of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers on the subject of a train telephony and had a short conversation with Mr. Simpson, vice-president of the institute, while he remained seated miles away from the banquet in a parlor car of a Canadian National Railway train en route to Montreal.

Mr. Burkholder's method of addressing his audience was a perfect example of the topic on which he spoke. The car from which he made his address was the "starter," which is equipped for telephoning to and from a moving train.

At 8.15 a voice came through the loud speaker at the head table: "Telephone call for Mr. Simpson, is Mr. Simpson there?"

"Burkholder speaking, Mr. Simpson." Then a short conversation followed, after which Mr. Burkholder explained the workings of the instrument he was using. At the end of his talk he gave a particularly apt instance of the service that might be rendered by his system when he described an actual happening of a passenger on a Canadian National train between Toronto and Montreal who was expecting an important family event at any time.

Through the medium of the train telephone, he got his home and even heard the cry of the new arrival. The spectacle of the group listening to the banquet hall listening to the address was unique. It was telephoned from the train and rebroadcast through a microphone system. The fact that Burkholder himself was the inventor of the train telephone, the only one of the kind in the world, made the demonstration even more remarkable.

Federal Conservative Leader Addresses Meeting in Town of Cobourg

Cobourg, Ont., June 25.—Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, opened the Ontario portion of his coast-to-coast election campaign with an address at a meeting here yesterday evening.

He again voiced his pledge, given previously, that the Conservatives would carry out the St. Lawrence waterway project if they should be returned to power July 28.

"For the last nine years," the Conservative leader said, "the government has been talking about this scheme, but what have they done? They have done nothing. But they have talked. They have a reference to the Supreme Court of Canada and have taken refuge after refuge in consultation after consultation. Against that you have the unqualified promise of our party for the immediate construction of the St. Lawrence waterway."

The Welland Canal was properly being completed, he said. "Why? The opposition leader proceeded, 'were we blessed with this opportunity? Why was this great St. Lawrence given to us? Why but to build this project and reap the benefits?'"

UNEMPLOYMENT QUESTION

Mr. Bennett spoke of Premier King's criticism of his suggestion for the calling of a session of Parliament immediately after the election to deal with unemployment. "He wants a conference," the Conservative leader said. "I wish you had seen the conditions. I witnessed out west. Winnipeg alone is spending $3,000 per day in looking after its unemployed. By the time he is through with western Canada he will want no more conferences."

FARM CONDITIONS

Touching on agriculture, Mr. Bennett gave it as his view that the policies of the Liberal Government had had a "baneful" result on Canadian farm trade. "Go along the highways and byways," he said, "and look upon the farms and farm lands and recall to yourselves how much they have depreciated in value during the present regime."

The opposition leader renewed his pledge for a national highway and renewal of grants to agriculture if his party should be returned to power.

BALDWIN SAYS ROTHERMERE NOW ASKS TOO MUCH

London, June 25.—St. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, who has been hammering recently in the Rothermere and Beaverbrook press because of his alleged apathetic attitude toward Empire free trade, and the consequent food taxation policy, attacked the "newspaper barons" at a specially called party meeting yesterday.

Mr. Baldwin said Lord Rothermere and Lord Beaverbrook were attempting to impose their will on the Conservative Party, going so far as to indicate they must know in advance the principal cabinet members if the Conservatives should be successful in the next election.

"A more preposterous and insolent demand was never made on the leader of any political party," exclaimed Mr. Baldwin vehemently after he had read a letter he said Lord Rothermere had written to one of Baldwin's political friends. "I will fight that attempt at domination to the end."

The Conservative leader made it clear he would not be driven from his previous stand for the country's endorsement of the food taxation policy by a referendum before any such taxes are imposed.

PRESS LEADERS ARE WELCOMED AT EDINBURGH

B. C. Nicholas Replies to Toast at Imperial Press Conference Event

By GEORGE HAMILTON

Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

Edinburgh, Scotland, June 25.—"Canada is very largely a blood child of Scotland," emphasized B. C. Nicholas, editor of the Victoria B.C. Times, when he replied to the toast of welcome offered by the Lord Provost of Edinburgh on the arrival here of the delegates to the Imperial Press Conference. The delegates left later for London, where yesterday they were received by the King and Queen.

Mr. Nicholas illustrated how Charles II, in granting the charter which originated the Hudson's Bay Company, had really been an empire builder. Subsequently Sir John A. Macdonald and George Brown, both of whom were born in Scotland, were the moving spirits in the confederation of the Canadian provinces and thereby created not only a great dominion in the new world, but opened the way to a new imperial orientation evidenced by the new British Commonwealth of Nations.

WINDS FOR SHIPS

One of the physical expressions of those developments, Mr. Nicholas continued, was the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. "It is not a proper sequel therefore that the Canadian Pacific, with such an origin, should send to the shippers of Scotland orders for ships valued in the past ten years at $100,000,000," he asked. "And if British shipbuilders can win supremacy in the markets of the Dominion providing products designed to meet its peculiar needs, why should not British manufacturers of other products attain a similar supremacy, providing they meet a similar need?"

Canada still needed the spirit and energy of the pioneer, Mr. Nicholas said. Success there could be achieved only by hard work and sacrifice. Britain herself was pioneering through adversity for a new mentality, the development of a new character.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

"It is to be hoped this pioneering spirit both in Britain and the Dominion will lead to a better and wider appreciation by both of the value of co-operation in winning prosperity for the whole Commonwealth," he declared.

PREMIER KING TO SPEAK JULY 1 AT BRANDON

Prairie Dates of Premier's Western Tour Are Made Public

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 25.—A Dominion Day speech at Brandon, Man., will feature the western itinerary of Premier King, whose present tour of the Maritimes and Quebec will end with a speech at Sherbrooke on Friday. Next Monday Mr. Macdonald will reach Winnipeg, and on Tuesday will deliver his first address in the prairies at Brandon.

On Wednesday, July 2, he will speak at Moose Jaw, Sask.

Four addresses are scheduled for that city on Thursday, July 3, following which the Prime Minister will proceed to British Columbia.

Four addresses are scheduled for the Pacific Coast province—one at Revelstoke on Friday, July 4; one at Chilliwack on Saturday, July 5; one at Victoria on Monday, July 6; and one at Vancouver on Tuesday, July 7.

RAINS HELPING PRAIRIE CROPS

Western Farmers Assured Fair Season, Says G. G. Hodges of Montreal

Regina Area Which Suffered From Wind Storm Replanted With Flax

Heavy rains on the Prairies during the last few days have greatly helped the crops and the farmers are now looking for a fair season, according to G. G. Hodges, shoe manufacturer of Montreal with big interests in the west, who is in the city to-day with Mrs. Hodges and their daughter.

Mr. Hodges is a cousin of J. K. Hodges, assistant manager of the Empress Hotel.

"Taken on the whole the crop situation is fairly satisfactory," said Mr. Hodges, who has been looking over the ground in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

MOISTURE NEEDED

"The rains now being experienced came at the opportune time and the farmers seem to think they will have a fair season."

On Tuesday, Friday and Saturday last rain fell heavily in the vicinity of Saskatoon and to the westward, reaching to Alberta. There is now plenty of moisture to assure a fair crop.

WIND DAMAGE

Referring to the heavy wind storm recently experienced to the east of Regina, Mr. Hodges said that about ten per cent of the wheat crop had been ruined in the area. The farmers, however, expected to retrieve their losses in this respect by planting flax.

Mr. Hodges expressed the opinion that Vancouver and Victoria were "far ahead" of the eastern territory and he thinks that the financial depression will not be seriously felt on the coast.

After a short visit here he is leaving with his family for Jasper National Park en route east.

ROTARIANS TO NAME LEADER TO-MORROW

R. J. Knoepfel and A. E. Roth Nominated at International Convention in Chicago

Delegates Here Give Review of Achievements By H. H. Rogers of Tulsa, Okla.

Chicago, June 25.—Raymond J. Knoepfel-New York City, and Almon E. Roth, Tulsa, Okla., today were nominated for the presidency of Rotary International. Nominations for ten directors in the United States also were made. Elections will be held to-morrow.

PEACE INFLUENCE

Chicago, June 25.—If India, China and Russia could only realize the good to come from the acceptance of Rotary's programme, if they could learn from the experience of Peru, China, Mexico and Czechoslovakia, much would be added to the tranquility of the world, Harry H. Rogers of Tulsa, Oklahoma, banker, declared to-day in one of the keynote addresses of the silver anniversary convention of Rotary International, which is being held here. He was asked to make the twenty-fifth anniversary review of the achievements of Rotary and point the way toward Rotary's future course.

PUBLIC OPINION

"Rotary," he said, "must increase its usefulness as a fact-finding organization, its influence as an agency in shaping a healthy public opinion. Rotary cannot decide issues, local or international, but it can influence its members to approach the discussion and decision of important, thought-perplexing problems, in the proper spirit."

"Not only are we on high ground, but with clear vision we see opportunity untouched and with responsibility keenly felt, we go forth as never before to extend acquaintance, to broaden fellowship, and to intensify friendship to the end that our own lives may be more complete, our respective communities more wholesome, and that international peace may be attained and abide."

POLICE QUELL RIOTING REDS

Winnipeg, June 25.—Communist unemployed scorned policemen's tactics to-day and rioted in the shadow of the Winnipeg city hall. Three hundred jobless, enraged at Mayor Ralph H. Webb's refusal to accede to their demand for a hearing, rushed police who barred their entry into the civic offices. Several were injured slightly.

James Beattie, ringleader of the Communist mob, was arrested after having battered aside a trio of policemen in the milling crowd. The gathering refused to disperse and policemen were placed on guard about the city hall last further trouble might ensue. Until Beattie assumed control, the unemployed had stood a group in the City Hall, listening to several speakers. Then the brawny Communist walked into the gathering, spoke intensely for a few minutes and started a procession to the mayor's office.

"Let's go and see the mayor," he urged his followers.

Confronted by several policemen, Beattie stopped for a minute and spoke to the officer. Then suddenly he knocked down one policeman with a backhand swing and started again for the building, but four officers jumped on him and the small riot was on. In the centre of the milling mob, Beattie fought vainly against his captors. He knocked down two more policemen before he finally was subdued, intensely for a few minutes and started a procession to the mayor's office.

Early this afternoon the unemployed had dispersed and police believed there would be no further trouble.

BIG AUDIENCE HEARS VIEWS OF A. E. MUNN

North Vancouver, June 25.—Enthusiasm characterized A. E. Munn's opening meeting as Federal Liberal candidate in North Vancouver, the K. of P. Hall being crowded yesterday evening. The candidate and G. G. McGeer, K.C., Liberal candidate in Fraser Valley, both received ovations. Chris McRae and David McKenzie also addressed the gathering.

Mr. Munn declared he was 100 per cent for the Peace River outlet being through Vancouver, and explained how he had worked in the Provincial House for the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, which he regarded as essential to British Columbia.

Referring to Oriental labor, he declared he had never employed an Oriental in his business.

He strongly supported social and labor legislation, he said.

"My immigration policy is: Give us good laws; keep taxation down; make it a good country to live in, and then you will get immigration without any assistance."

Mr. McGeer, said the Prime Minister had committed the government to carry out the Pacific outlet for Peace River through Vancouver, if the two railway systems did not carry it out. This, he said, was a most important consideration why North Vancouver should elect Mr. Munn.

KERSHAW TRIAL OPENS BEFORE CROWDED COURT

CASHIER'S EVIDENCE

Kathleen May Moore, cashier at St. Joseph's Hospital, described the usual method of preparing the bank deposit and stated that on May 9 the customary practice had been followed. The bank book had been made up with cash amounting to $770 and cheques for $837.47 and handed to Miss Vaughan in a manila envelope at 11:30 o'clock.

Miss Moore was positive she had handed the envelope to Miss Vaughan, denying a suggestion by Mr. Jackson that she had laid the deposit on the top of the telephone switchboard. The witness was certain that when she left for luncheon at 11:30 o'clock a sister was in the inside office. She believed that no person could have entered the office and talked with Miss Vaughan without being seen.

S. T. Sell said on May 10 he was traffic manager for the Alaska-Washington Airways. On the landing floor of the seaplane that morning the accused said he was going to fly to Vancouver, under the name of R. Collins. He was to take a Dominion government post, and it found taking any undue risk might lose the appointment. The accused was not on the floor after the plane left, and the witness could not wear he had been on board the machine.

MANY TAXI RIDES

Robert M. Penman, taxi driver, said he had known Kershaw for several years. On the afternoon of May 9 he had picked up the accused at Tenth Avenue and Douglas Street and had taken him with two grips and after visits to two stores the witness checked the grips at the steamship agent and again picked up the accused, taking him to various points, finally dropping him on View Street, around 8 o'clock. He had been called to Yates Street and sent to the steamer ferry baggage room for one of his grips and then returned the bag. At that time the accused had given him a cravenette rain coat. He had returned the baggage checks to the accused later.

The next morning, May 10, he was sent to the Gray Line office to get a ticket for the 10:15 o'clock plane to Vancouver. The witness gave the ticket to the accused, picked up his baggage, returned to the corner of Humboldt and Douglas Streets and transported the accused to the seaplane landing floor.

On May 6 at 2:30 o'clock the witness had seen the accused outside McCall's Funeral Parlor on Johnson Street. Kershaw had asked the witness for his card and had said "he might need me in a few days."

Replying to Mr. Jackson, the witness said the accused had mentioned domestic troubles when being driven around, but no attention was paid to what he said.

James Smith, of Price and Smith Limited, said he had identified clothes in the possession of the accused as having been sold by his store, the coat being $70.50.

William M. Fisher, dispatcher for the airplane service, had known accused for nine years. He saw Kershaw early in May and on May 10 sold the witness, Penman, a ticket in the name of R. Collins, a seat in the Vancouver plane leaving at 10:15 a.m.

He had heard the accused speak of domestic troubles. Mr. Jackson was told, and the witness added: "That was a long time ago," when asked by the crown. Before issuing the ticket for "R. Collins" to the taxi driver, the witness had had a telephone call, but he was not associated with the name "R. Collins" with the accused.

KERSHAW AT APARTMENT

Russell Snedden said he overtook the accused on Belleville Street at the Crystal Garden at noon on May 9. He identified Miss Rita Vaughan as a resident in the apartment block where he lived, and stated he had seen her frequently in the hallway at the noon hour. On May 9 she was in his apartment at 5 o'clock, speaking of the robbery.

Replying to Mr. Jackson the witness said he saw the accused entering Miss Vaughan's apartment on Thursday, May 8, shortly after noon. He had seen Kershaw in the hall of the apartment block several times, particularly in the lunch hour. Practically every day for the three weeks preceding the robbery he had seen the accused in the premises around noon.

Pressed for an explanation of his statements that he had seen Kershaw on May 9 at noon outside the Crystal Garden, the witness said the matter was fixed strongly in his memory. Miss Vaughan, that night told him of the robbery, and said her boy friend had left Victoria the night before. "It struck me as peculiar, therefore, that I had seen him on the street that noon," Mr. Snedden said.

Harry W. Gough, salesman at Maynard's shoe store, told of selling shoes to the accused.

Thomas F. Monahan, United States immigration inspector, identified the accused and Miss Vaughan as a couple he had seen walking at noon between May 1 and May 8, in a vacant lot near Douglas Street, probably on five occasions. He had seen Miss Vaughan there almost daily for five years, but until recently always without Kershaw, who he knew by sight for some years as a taxi driver. The proceedings were then adjourned for luncheon.

OUR AIRPORT

UNTIL THIS CITY IS IN A POSITION to announce to the world at large that there is ample accommodation here for both kinds of heavier-than-air machines, Victoria will remain off the air map, and this community will not get the business or the publicity from this form of travel to which it is rightly entitled.

Alderman Straith says the city is speeding up its search for an adequate landing field that will serve as the nucleus of a permanent public aerodrome and conform to all the requirements laid down by the civil aviation branch of the Department of National Defence. We also are told that the industrial committee of the city council already has completed arrangements to accommodate "all the seaplane traffic likely to be seen here for the next ten years."

It is gratifying to learn that there is the prospect of early action on this important matter. Speed is more especially the essence of the contract now in view of the fact that next year is to witness a coast-to-coast mail service that will permit the delivery of a letter in Halifax under forty hours after it has been mailed in Victoria.

Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General, fore-shadowed this development in a speech he delivered in New Brunswick the other day. And it means, of course, that when the economic feasibility of a transcontinental mail service has been clearly established, the inauguration of a passenger service will quickly follow. But Victoria will not figure in either service unless it provides adequate accommodation.

How aerial travel is growing in popularity, incidentally, is reflected by the fact that during last week-end five United States airplanes halted in Vancouver, some of the passengers on business bent and others on holiday.

Naturally some time will elapse before this city will require policemen of the air to direct flying traffic; but such amazing developments have taken place in connection with this form of transportation in the last few years, that our plans for an airport must make allowance for still further development in the early future.

WHY TRY MR. BENNETT?

ONE OF THE REASONS WHY DR. Tolmie argued with the electors of British Columbia in 1928 that he should be permitted to form a government to replace that presided over by Dr. MacLean was that he would reduce taxation, decrease the public debt, cut down expenditure, cease borrowing, keep the boys and girls at home, and bring back those sons and daughters of this province who had gone to the neighboring republic to earn their livelihood.

The Tolmie government has been in office for nearly two years. It has not reduced taxation; it has not decreased the public debt; it has increased expenditure; it has taken additional borrowing powers; it has done nothing to create inducements for the boys and girls who are about to finish their schooling; it has not suggested anything which might be considered an attraction for those sons and daughters of the province who, we were told in 1928, had gone to the United States to get jobs.

It is interesting to note these promises which Dr. Tolmie and his supporters made to the people of this province two years ago. There is a federal election campaign in full swing. Mr. Bennett has been to British Columbia to tell us that he is the Moses ordained by some mystic power to deliver us from what he considers a terrible state of affairs. But he has merely followed in the footsteps of the Premier of this province, who for several years was the organizer of the Conservative party of Canada, but who apparently has such little faith in the doctrine he preached in the summer of 1928, that he found it more convenient to absent himself from the campaign, atmosphere than to be present on the first and only occasion on which the man who aspires to be the next Prime Minister of Canada spoke in this city.

Obviously the electors of this constituency are drawing their own conclusions. Dr. Tolmie has failed them. What hope have they from Mr. Bennett, whose campaign speeches so far have been strikingly noteworthy for their poverty of ideas, and equally noteworthy for their high-sounding but meaningless generalities?

HOLIDAYS IN OUR OWN LAND

PUBLIC BODIES IN THIS PROVINCE directly interested in the tourist trade are campaigning now to persuade British Columbians to see their own part of the Dominion first, to spend their summer holidays here. This is always a sound idea, but this year, when business in Canada is feeling the worldwide depression, it is especially commendable. British Columbians by all means should spend this year's vacation at home, keep their money here and take advantage of a playground which cannot be surpassed anywhere.

Many British Columbians have no real idea of their own province. Interior people know the interior, coast people the coast, but the proportion of coast people who go to the interior, and of interior people who come to the coast, is very small. So many are determined on a reasonably long trip to go south instead; and a surprising number think, indeed, that this is the country to stay in when one has only a long week-end to spare.

It is only the British Columbian who knows his province thoroughly who realizes its holiday possibilities. After he has spent a few holidays here he has only one fault to find with it—it is that there are not sufficient holidays in an average lifetime to permit anyone to see enough of this country. You may think you know British Columbia. Probably you know

Vancouver Island, which is one of the best parts of it, particularly for holidays, and you may have traveled on the train across the province, with occasional side trips up to Prince Rupert or down into the Okanagan or Kootenay districts. But unless you have spent months traveling by motor, or better still, on horseback or on foot, you have no real idea of British Columbia.

Do you know, for instance, the new Cariboo Road, where it is just a dizzy space above the yellow Fraser, and the transcontinental train below you seems like a child's toy? Or the old Cariboo Road, where it climbs into the clouds on Pavilion Mountain and drops down again, by innumerable spirals, into the rolling open land of the dry belt? Have you seen the towering gates of red stone on the road from Banff to Windermere, or the vast human head which the ages have carved into the cliffs at the entrance to Sinclair Canyon? Have you ever traveled down Kootenay Lake on one of those old stern-wheelers and watched the sun on the mountains, which seem likely to topple over on you at any moment? Have you followed the Fraser into the north, seen it swirling through its rocky canyon, and then moving quietly through its great banks of yellow clay up around Prince George? Have you raced through those endless forests of jack pine and cottonwood of the Cariboo, and from a hilltop surveyed a sea of green timber, rolling on and on to the rim of the world?

Down in the Okanagan you can watch the fruit ripening in the orchards in late summer, and buy a ridiculously large bag of apples by the roadside for ten cents. Up in the Chilcotin you can see the cowboys rounding up the range cattle with all the glamour of the old wild west. Back in the hills around Barkerville you can watch the sordid miners hydraulic mining gold from the hillsides, as they have done since the great gold rush. In the Bulkley Valley you may observe a real frontier land, where the settlers are still in that pioneer stage which passed here long ago.

In the Rockies, if you are more adventurous, you may go mountaineering into the snows and find the meadows carpeted with sheets of wild flowers or, if you are less energetic, you may swim in hot springs and watch the glaciers all about you. You can follow the wide, safe, main highways, or strike out into innumerable side roads, where cars are few and adventures frequent. You can have any scenery, any climate, any amusement you desire. You can find in British Columbia everything that makes a holiday perfect. Why go elsewhere?

THE INCOMPARABLE AMY JOHNSON

WE GET SOME IDEA OF THE COURAGE and resourcefulness of Amy Johnson, who recently flew alone in a small airplane from England to Australia, from her own story of the adventure which thrilled the civilized world.

She says that when she arrived at Sourabaya she was told by the aerial officer on duty that it would be impossible and foolish of her to continue her journey in the monsoon season. But this young woman from Yorkshire refused to be persuaded by the officer in question. She tells part of her story in this way:

I lost all my time dodging the storms, going round them or over them until petrol shortage blocked my long hops. Day after day, and many times in a day, I was drenched through. It was shocking. Never again would I dare attempt another flight in the monsoon season. At Sourabaya Air Force officers had just completed an extensive survey of the country, and reported it as utterly impossible to go anywhere in the monsoon season. In spite of that, and contrary to all instructions, I went through—but never again! If I did not do it there was no alternative but to wait for months or go home. Neither was tempting to me, so off I went. I was forced to fly very low, and was often taking the risk of striking the tree tops in the blinding storms. What was the good of sitting where I was, anyhow?

After leaving Calcutta, conditions made it impossible to do anything but blind flying for five hours in pouring rain. It was absolutely frightening, and I am not afraid to confess it—I was frightened. I dare attempt another flight in the monsoon season. At Sourabaya Air Force officers had just completed an extensive survey of the country, and reported it as utterly impossible to go anywhere in the monsoon season. In spite of that, and contrary to all instructions, I went through—but never again! If I did not do it there was no alternative but to wait for months or go home. Neither was tempting to me, so off I went. I was forced to fly very low, and was often taking the risk of striking the tree tops in the blinding storms. What was the good of sitting where I was, anyhow?

Another awful part was the run from Sourabaya, where I lost such a lot of time, dodging about in thick rainstorms. Seeking to get away from the rain, I tried to cross the Java Sea, and ran into the worst of the storm. It was almost impossible to distinguish between sea and rain, and I was terrified often. At times I was almost touching the waves, and had I done so I was done for.

It would have been courageous enough for a male of the species, an experienced aviator, to have braved all the conditions which the experts at Sourabaya described to this young woman; but for her to proceed on her journey, and eventually to reach her destination in Australia, may be considered an epic in aerial navigation as outstanding, from its physical and technical points of view, as Lindbergh's solo flight from New York to Paris three years ago.

In the light of Miss Johnson's altogether marvelous achievement, incidentally, it will become the members of the so-called stronger sex to scoff at the achievements or the aspirations of the gentler sex.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

NEW JEWISH COMMUNITIES

The Canadian Jewish Chronicle

Statistical tables already available from the new census would go to indicate that large Jewish groups in the larger American cities are at present engaging in the moving business. Entire Jewish neighborhoods are being deserted by the old dwellers and new Jewish communities spring up over night in the suburbs of the large cities. In the course of the last few years, innumerable such small Jewish communities carved out of the old Ghettos have arisen in greater New York, greater Chicago, greater Philadelphia, greater Cleveland, greater Pittsburgh, greater Washington, and so forth. The compactness of Jewish life, the main feature of the old Ghettos, is thus being broken up. Instead of Jewish masses in mass settlements, we get small communities and this is not always a change for the better as far as Jewish life is concerned.

The old Jewish settlement, whether on the lower East Side of New York, or on the West Side of Chicago, was largely instrumental in preserving the old forms of Jewish life. As a result of the breaking up of the old settlements, these old forms of Jewish life are already disappearing. The moving of the neighborhood to another has its religious as well as its social implications. The Jewish radical of the old settlement becomes respectable and conservative in conduct in his new home in a new neighborhood.

KIRK AND KIMO

To the Editor:—We are in danger of losing one of our best radio stations, namely, KJR, Seattle.

I read the letter by the secretary of the local Radio Club, stating that station KIMO is requesting the wave channel now held by KJR. If this goes into effect with KIMO will be on the former's present channel and will be drowned out as far as Seattle and the vicinity are concerned. This would mean that the people of Seattle, because no advertiser is going to pay money for a programme which no one in their district can pick up.

How would Victoria radio fans like having only the one Seattle station to listen to, with no alternative?

What does our local Radio Club think of this? We have heard nothing officially from that body? Surely they ought to be vitally interested.

"PLANTAGENET" AGAIN!

To the Editor:—In your issue of June 12 there appeared a letter from the "Committee of Protest" which plainly implied that reply was expected.

Although in the various letters from the "Committee of Protest" the principle of consolidation was reiterated, we have as often been struck by the apparent lack of sincerity of the writers, alleged sympathy with the cause of consolidation was reiterated, we have as often been struck by the apparent lack of sincerity of the writers.

That intelligent men and women should intrude their interests to a "Committee of Protest" is a sign of understanding. Mere verbosity does not necessarily imply profound knowledge, as we shall endeavor to show.

We are in this district, to point out that Justice Murphy's decision re "Plantagenet" did positively not show that the meetings to consider consolidation in this area were properly called thereby "preventing residents in outlying districts" airing their views. "Plantagenet's" cause was simply lost through a technical error in the name of the four schools concerned were not mentioned in the notices of the meetings, although it is safe to say that not a man, woman or child in this district was in doubt as to which schools were proposing to unite.

The addition of these names on the notices would have had no effect on the number of ratepayers attending these meetings on July 13 last.

The smug complacency with which the "Committee of Protest" points to the prevailing of British justice was therefore entirely uncalled for.

The "Committee of Protest" arraigns "Plantagenet" on various counts, which we shall deal with in their order:

(a) We have failed to notice a "steadily decreasing school attendance" and for the information of the "Committee" we may state that the actual enrolment of "Plantagenet" is 104 with an attendance for May of ninety-two pupils. The school must be added ten pupils who passed their high school entrance examinations and who now either are performing or attending superior schools elsewhere or are still waiting for the opportunity to continue their higher education at home through the medium of "Plantagenet."

The minimum requirement for a three-room school is an attendance of seventy-six pupils. So much for the "improbability" of achieving the establishment of a fully graded school in this district.

(b) The site for the new school selected and approved by the ratepayers at the meeting of September 30 last is not contiguous to a swamp. Verily, it is on a highway, but so are the present schools. The site is on this island, but we have not heard of any fatalities. It is natural that any school should be built on a site which is not a swamp, and not to hide them away in the bush.

Yes, a good two-room school already exists in Sylvia. It does not mean that the "Committee" seriously plan to saddle the poor ratepayers of Sylvia with a two-room superior school. May we inform it that this scheme would more than double the present mill rate of 4.3 for this district? Do work it out yourselves!

(c) It is admitted that it is not necessary to have consolidation to secure the benefits of a superior school, but it certainly is of the utmost importance to pool the assessment rolls to obtain these advantages at the lowest possible cost to the ratepayers. Ergo, consolidation! The inclusion of the Shawinigan Lake School District in our area would merely reduce Shawinigan's mill rate at the expense of "Plantagenet's."

We, too, are convinced that a few ratepayers did come away from that meeting of September 30 last "with-out" having any idea of what the respective costs and merits of the two systems really were, and they probably never will have, anyway.

In conclusion we would state that we shall be glad to welcome two members of the "Committee of Protest" to a round table conference, as it suggested, and we are encouraged to do so, as we notice that at least one or two, capable of intelligent and unbiased thought and reasoning, appear to be amongst the members of that "Committee."

A GRATEFUL MEMORY

To the Editor: Whilst attending the funeral service of the late Dr. Campbell to-day (Monday) I missed over an incident which occurred during the Boer War. It had been during the Boer War, and a Canadian contingent had been formed in and around Victoria.

It was decided to hold a dedicatory service at the Drill Hall, in which service the Canadian contingent—Bishops Criddle and Perrin, Dr. Campbell and Criddle, Hughes and Speers—would participate.

As an ardent opponent of war, I felt keenly that any Christian minister should use his office for the glorification and sanction of campaigns that must certainly involve the sacrifice of lives, and inflict untold miseries upon the country invaded. Dr. Campbell's own letter to the five ministers, and his own participation in the service, were a constant reminder of his own participation in the service.

The day after the meeting a gentle knock came to my office door. Dr. Campbell called, and to my astonishment and gratitude inquired of me whether I thought it was likely that the Department of Customs would act in the resolution; because, he added, if this was probable he would be pleased to write a letter on my behalf at once to members of the government, strongly requesting that such an action should not ensue. The kindly action, the genuine friendship, the Christian courtesy displayed stirred emotions that could not be controlled, and only in feeble accents could I assure him that I did not anticipate any disciplinary action from Ottawa.

I need not add that no notice in any way was taken by the government of the day. There was, however, forged between the two friends, an affectionate friendship with which Dr. Campbell and myself always afterwards felt toward each other.

It may further interest your readers to know that A. M. Milne, collector of customs at that time, who was an officer, tendered his services to me in case of need, and further that the then proprietor of The Times, Hon. Wm. Mitchell, although disagreeing with my views upon the Boer War, when requested by a deputation to endorse and actively support the resolutions to the government, in very strong language refused to do so.

I mention this incident chiefly as it relates to Dr. Campbell, because it is indicative of the whole tenor of his life. In so far as I knew him, he always appeared to be a man of the very heart and spirit of Christianity. An ardent advocate of the Presbyterian form, his large heartedness, nobility of disposition and generous outlook endeared him to all who knew him. The post might have described him when he wrote:

"For points of creed let restless bigots fight;
He can't be wrong whose life is in the right."

Dr. Campbell not only in his prime preached the Christ of Bethlehem, Nazareth, Calvary and the Resurrection, but he exemplified it in his life. He was a man of the heart, a man of the spirit, a man of the faith. Beloved, because he loved.

W. MARCHANT.

OSTEOPATHY

To the Editor:—In a recent issue of your paper there appeared a report of an address delivered by Dr. Charles M. Mills to a convention of the American Neurological Society in Atlantic City. Dr. Mills goes out of his way to cast reflection on the professional training of osteopathic physicians and their ability to diagnose. This is not a new line of attack but at this late date in the history of osteopathy it displays either gross ignorance or a malicious attempt to deceive.

Every subject taught in Class A medical college on this continent to-day is also taught in osteopathic colleges. The demand for higher standards in osteopathic practice to-day have been consistently met in our institutions.

The science of osteopathy is now in its fifty-seventh year of progress before the world, and in one-half of the states in the Union, osteopathic physicians take exactly the same examination as the medical physicians, and make as good a record on their training as the medical physicians. The remaining states have separate or mixed examination boards.

In British Columbia the examinations are set by the B.C. College of Physicians and Surgeons and osteopathic physicians have been qualifying under this board for twenty years.

As for diagnosis, suffice it to say that all the approved methods of diagnosis used by medical men to-day are also used and approved by osteopathic physicians. The essential difference in the two schools of practice is not one of diagnosis or training but one of therapy. It is not my purpose in this letter to discuss osteopathy from this standpoint, but merely to point out that the profession has just cause to be proud of its high educational requirements and merits no such unwarranted attack. The osteopath is

MANTELL BACK FROM HIS TOUR OF FAR EAST

Good Personnel and Vaudeville Is Assured Success, Says Orpheum-Keith Star

Saw Four Million Hindus Bathing in Ganges at Allahabad Festival

Vaudeville tours in the Orient, providing the personnel in good and not too large, have an excellent chance of success, according to Len. Mantell, vaudeville artist and manager, formerly associated with the Orpheum and Keith circuits, who reached Victoria by the Korea Maru to-day after a ten-month tour of Japan, China, the Philippines, the Malay States and India.

"We were a little top-heavy in personnel and traveling expenses out into the profits, but our tour was a financial success," said Mr. Mantell. He reached the Orient with his troupe last September at the time the money market was flat and when the tables were beginning to take hold in China and Japan, but, despite these drawbacks the company of vaudeville artists played to good houses.

"I should say that a company of about eight people, offering bang-up entertainment, would make money over there," he explained for the benefit of future tours. There were just a few too many in our company, but we made the grade and, incidentally, dragged a lot of fun out of the tour."

Money in China at the present time is not worth a great deal, as illustrated by the fact that four Shanghai dollars were the equivalent of one gold dollar when the Mantell troupe played the parts of the Far East.

In India, where all the soldiers are admitted to performances at half price, the popular box-office charge was two rupees, about seventy-five cents. During the tour the Mantell party played chiefly to European audiences.

Mr. and Mrs. Mantell are the last of the party to return, the remainder having crossed the Pacific by various routes. Mrs. Mantell was taken ill in Shanghai which necessitated a change in their plans.

Mr. Mantell knows Victoria well and has played vaudeville here. "Give my regards to Cliff Denham," he said in asking about the local manager with whom he had played under contract.

ASTONISHING SPECTACLE
In relating some of his experiences during the tour, Mr. Mantell said the celebration of the religious festival "Kumbh Mela" at Allahabad in India last January was a most impressive and astonishing spectacle.

"Four million Hindus were on the banks of the Ganges washing away their sins," he said. "It was a remarkable scene that I shall never forget."

He played in Calcutta, Bombay, Delhi, Allahabad, Lucknow and Colombo, and looked into wild Afghanistan through the Khyber Pass from Peshawar.

"Without British rule, India would be a second China as it is war to the death between the Hindus and the Mohammedans," said Mr. Mantell in touching upon recent events in India.

a physician with the same fundamental study and knowledge of the body in health and disease as marks the physician of the older school.

Our profession has to contend with quacks and charlatans the same as any other profession. Even in this province where the practice of osteopathy is governed by the Medical Act of 1909, we still have to contend with unlicensed men who practice illegally what they claim to be osteopathy.

This letter should not be construed as in any sense an attack upon the medical profession but merely a defense against an unjust or untrue implication.

GARDEN PARTY WAS SUCCESS

Grounds of "Ardmore Grange" Sidney, Scene of Successful Function

Special to The Times

Sidney, June 25.—A garden party was held by the senior and evening branches of the Women's Auxiliary to the M.S.C.C. on Saturday, at Ardmore Grange, the home of General and Mrs. R. J. Gwynne. Over 300 visitors attended and more than $200 was added to the auxiliary's funds.

Tea tables on the lawn were in charge of Mrs. Belsom, Mrs. Harchner, Mrs. Hiron and Mrs. M. E. Jeffery and Mrs. J. Ramsay. Those serving were: Geraldine and Irene Tuttle, Kathleen and Mary Butler, Tomie Yarnal, Wilma McIlroy, Alberta Critchley and Ellen Jeffery. The waitresses were dressed in pale pink crepe, with fancy white cap and apron.

The miscellaneous stall was in charge of Mrs. Pownall and Mrs. Bodkin. Ice cream was sold by Mrs. Gerald Faw, and home cooking and produce by Mrs. J. Critchley and Mrs. Davies.

The candy stall, in charge of Miss Gertrude Cochran, was well patronized and the fishing pond was conducted by Miss Iris Goddard. The orange tree of gifts was conveyed by Mrs. A. Toomer.

Croquet, tennis, clock roll and many competitions proved popular pastimes. The tennis tournament attracted much attention. Mrs. W. T. Sisson and J. H. Stewart defeated Mrs. D. H. MacDonald and Col. Meester, in the semi-finals, and then overcame Miss Dora Payne and C. P. Henstock in the finals.

Mrs. Douglas, of Mount Newton Cross Road, won the egg guessing contest. Mrs. G. Swally, age five, youngest member of the Navy League, earned a plaque with a tap dance, and Navy League cadets gave an excellent performance of drills and songs.

REPORT MORE TOURISTS TO COME NORTH

Southern Contact Men Claim
Increase of 30 Per Cent
Over Number in 1929

Publicity Bureau Is Told of Three Recent Motorlogs on Island

The number of northbound tourists from California has been about thirty per cent heavier this year than in the corresponding period in 1929, according to advice received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau from their southern contact men. This fact was discussed yesterday at a regular luncheon meeting of the directors of the Bureau in the Chamber of Commerce.

Letters from agents of the bureau at Grand's Pass and Portland were read, and both referred to the increased number of northbound tourists. The increase was estimated at from 25 to 35 per cent.

Commissioner George I. Warren told the directors of several motorlogs which had been conducted around the island, particularly the recent tour of the Dominion cameraman. Under the personal guidance of Mr. Warren two reels of scenic views had been taken, comprising the best collection ever taken of island scenery. Among the shots taken were several of Butchart's Gardens, Saanich Inlet, Victoria Harbor, The Empress, Beacon Hill and the Oak Bay golf links. The cameraman had remained on the island two weeks and had gone as far as the big stand of timber at Cameron Lake, Mr. Warren said.

CAUGHT THREE FISH

In addition a party of eleven from The Seattle Daily Times had taken a trip on Sunday and had been shown many points of beauty in the vicinity of Victoria. The party had closed a most successful day by catching three salmon at Saanich, and all were loud in their praise of what they had seen and done.

The Motor Editor of The Seattle Post-Intelligencer had also been conducted on a tour of Sooke, Jordan River and the West Coast Road, returning by way of the Malahat Drive. Mr. Warren then told the directors of the three radio programmes put on by the committee last week in Seattle when Victoria artists appeared at the Olympic Breakfast Club, at the U.S. adian luncheon meeting and at a special Victoria programme over KJR in the afternoon.

The directors discussed the advisability of printing a number of stickers for the backs of letters. A motion to postpone this plan was passed.

Riverside, Calif., June 25.—Harold Johnson, twelve-year-old Boy Scout, walked into the state fish hatchery at Snow Creek on the north side of Mount San Jacinto shortly before noon yesterday, ending a search since Friday, when he became separated from a band of scouts hiking down the precipitous mountain. He was in good health.

"I saw the airplanes and waved," young Johnson said, "but I could not attract them." He was taken to the hospital at Banning, high altitude town in San Geronimo Pass, for examination and food.

"I have to work in the store and do my own housework too and I got nervous and run-down and was in bed nearly all summer. The least notice would make me nervous. I was told to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken seven bottles. It has made me stronger and put more color into my face. I get along nicely now with my work and with my four children. I would like to answer letters."—Mrs. J. Malin.

GUIDES PLAN TO HOLD BIG CAMPS

One For Rangers at Albert Head; Other at Bradley Dyne

The recent garden party held at Government House was a big success financially, according to reports presented at the monthly meeting of the Victoria District Girl Guide Association on Monday evening, which showed that the profits from the stalls and side shows run by the respective Guides companies and Brownies, amounted to $87.58. The amount received by the local association to date from tea and donations was approximately $132, expenses $45, leaving a profit to the funds of $87.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to all kind friends who assisted in the success of the fete, both by their personal attendance or by sending cakes and donations, special mention being made of Major W. Wise and his Scouts, who helped in many ways during the day; also to David Spencer Limited, and Mr. Cecil Heaton for the loan and transportation of the gramophone; to Miss Rogers, who had helped continually at one of the stalls, and to all those ladies who worked so busily serving tea.

Miss M. A. Wigley, president, was in the chair at the meeting, and the district commissioners, Mrs. G. Phillips and Mrs. L. A. Genge, gave reports on their respective districts.

Leutenants' warrants were requested for Miss Nina Bjornstad, No. 6 (St. George's) Victoria Company, and for Miss Valentine Ireland, 7th (Regimental), Victoria Company.

Miss Stewart Williams announced that the Rangers' Camp would be held at Albert Head from Saturday, June 28 to July 10; visitors' day, July 3, when members of the local association and friends would be welcome.

The annual Guide camp of the Victoria and Saanich districts will be held on the Bradley Dyne property, Saanich, for ten days, starting July 15. Miss Stirling and Miss Gale reported on their preliminary arrangements. It is regretted that owing to the shortage of guides and limited space the numbers have had to be reduced to meet Guide regulations. There will be four groups of between thirty and forty Guides under a group commandant, a quartermaster and two guides. An experienced camp nurse has been engaged. Visitors' days at the camp will be Sunday, July 20, and Wednesday, July 23, when parents and friends are invited.

Wedding Held At Pentecostal Assembly Hall

At the Pentecostal Assembly Hall yesterday evening at 8 o'clock, Rev. James Pusey united in marriage Edith Marian, only daughter of the late Mr. William Cann, of North Sydney, N.S., and of Mrs. Cann, of 484 Superior Street, to Mr. Alfred Richard Nex, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Nex, 660 Montreal Street. The church had been beautifully decorated by junior members of the congregation under the guidance of Mrs. R. Hicks, and the wedding music was played by Miss Wheeler. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Arthur Cann, and looked charming in her frock of ivory, crepe-back satin with a slim bodice and long sleeves and skirt with uneven hemline, which reached to the ankles at the back. Her veil of embroidered net had been worn by her mother at her wedding. A shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, Laddie carnations and maidenhair fern completed the bride's toilette.

Miss Johanna Fisher was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Jean Ormiston. Both wore dainty frocks of flowered nylon in shades of yellow and green respectively, with long graduated skirts and bodices finished with cape sleeves. They carried arm bouquets of sweet peas in blending shades. Mr. Shirley Cann supported the groom.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, where her friends had decorated the house with masses of summer flowers. A three-tiered wedding cake centred the supper table, which was arranged with folds of mauve tulle and vases of cream rosebuds, and lighted with mauve and yellow candles in silver holders. After a motoring trip on the Island, Mr. and Mrs. Nex will make their home in Victoria.

WOMEN PROTEST AT BULL-FIGHT

Vain Demonstration Made in France; Girls Beaten and Chained

Canadian Press
Melun, France, June 25.—Two women led a vain attempt to stop a bull-fight held here. Mile. Liane Buguet was the first of thirty demonstrators to clamber over the barricade into the ring, just as the bulls were about to enter. One hundred Republican Guards were rushed into the arena, where they rode down the demonstrators and beat them into submission with their truncheons. Those who refused to leave were overpowered by the guards and led away in chains, while a crowd of 10,000 looked on. Mile. Buguet, a slim, well-dressed young office worker, evaded the rider for a while, but was finally driven from the grounds.

Earlier protests against the bull-fight were led by Mme. du Gast, the president of the French Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. When the police commissioner threatened her with arrest she declared that bull-fighting in France is illegal. After several of her followers had been led away from the ring in chains, Mme. du Gast and a large crowd of supporters marched to the town hall, where they entered a formal protest against the exhibition.

In spite of protests from animal-lovers all over France, the bull-fight was held to raise funds for a local memorial to Joan of Arc. It was officially sponsored by the Mayor of Melun.

Pinafore"; march, "Bravura."

Pastel Suits
If you have a pink, light blue, lavender, yellow or pale green suit this summer, you really are smart. Pastels for town and business wear are this summer's contribution. But they are wool, silk, cotton or linen. They invariably have a sweet little gilet to go with them.

More Formality
With sleeves diminishing, summer coats increase in the formality of their cuts. Cape sleeves, three-quarters bell sleeves, tight elbow sleeves with flaring cuffs and other interesting designs are being worked out.

'Green Habit'
A new summer habit for those starting down the bride path, is made of olive green linen, with jodupers and a fitted long jacket. The shirt is white, with green and white tie.

Astonishing Guns Shoot Food to Eat

Quaker Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice

Wheat and rice grains given their most nutritious form

HERE are wheat and rice grains shot from guns! To give them a new deliciousness... a more perfect digestibility.

First the choice, plump grains are sealed in guns. Then revolved in fiery ovens. Then fired. This causes 125 million explosions in every grain. It blasts open every tiny food cell. Thus every particle of the grain is made as completely digestible as though it had been cooked for hours. And so Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice attain the virtual nourishment of hot cooked cereals.

And what new flavoriness... what delicious, crisp crunchiness... this wonderful invention brings to wheat and rice. The grains are puffed to 8 times normal size. They taste like sweet new nutmeats. They entice as grain foods never have before.

Serve Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice every day in every way you can. Your family deserves this finer kind of nourishment. Your grocer has Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice. The Quaker Oats Company.

YOUR BABY and MINE

for Mother's Night Ideas

Mrs. Moore will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

USE YOUR IMAGINATION TO LIGHTEN CHILDREN'S TASKS

Mother is forever discovering how easily the child can be managed if they simply catch their suggestions in a way to appeal to his imagination. The "fairies" (and how useful they are!) can rapidly make a bed, wipe dishes or clear up the room in a way to astound the family. The joy of pretending to flutter about light-footed and air-dripping is so contagious that the work goes on while it is done without fussing. Talents can't always go rightly even in the best-managed families, but a quick-witted mother can change some into smiles and points into chuckles if she will. Once her imagination is set on a heavy hand, to bear upon the situation.

Mrs. T. F. W. says: "We went through the shampoo terror, for accidentally one day some soap stung Billy's eyes, and after that, he shrieked at the sight of it. I bought a bottle of shampoo and partly reassured him, and took great care that no more fell in his eyes. When little brother was old enough to bathe in the same tub we played a game that took away the thought of soap. They were little gnomes, and mother worked hard to make a soapy peak on their heads and points on their chins and cheeks. They shrieked with glee at the result. With only one child the mother might have to use a mirror to show him the result. This game helps them to leave the tub, too, for they hurry to be rinsed and wiped so that they can go

Tilden Shows Brilliant Form In Wimbledon Tennis

THE SPORTS MIRROR

ONCE again Mr. John Fan has been made the goat. Monday night at Philadelphia another of the heavy-hauling bouts, proper, a "last" was George Godfrey, "Fridge of Lelievre," sunk his left-hand in the lower regions of that mammoth from Italy, Primo Carnera, and the Italian was promptly awarded the bout on a foul. This makes the fourth heavyweight battle in the last few months to end up in this manner, and by this time the fight public is getting sick and tired of seeing bout after bout end in this way. There should be some rule or law introduced to prevent such fouls. Maybe if the fighters were told before they entered the ring that should one of them land a foul blow he would forfeit his portion of the gate receipts the number of fouls would decrease. Because, after all, fighters are in the business to make a living and not to make money.

Press dispatches from Philadelphia lead one to think that Godfrey knew he was beaten and let the low blow go on purpose. From descriptions of the fight all those near the ring knew the blow was foul as soon as Godfrey started it. The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission has taken the proper view on the matter by immediately suspending Godfrey and cutting his purse in half. If the foul was deliberate he deserves nothing for his evening's work.

It was not the first time Godfrey fouled an opponent. Since beginning his ring career in 1922 he has lost four bouts on fouls. Here he lost to Chuck Weppler, 1928, Larry Gains, July 7, 1929, Willie Walker at Philadelphia in third round; and August 13, 1929, Tom Hawkins at Los Angeles in third round.

What a few weeks have done regarding the standing of Carnera in the United States! He has gone from being the "freak" of the ring to being a serious threat in the heavyweight ranks. Carnera showed throughout the five rounds that he is a slouch of a fighter. He took everything that Godfrey could give and was still going in for more. He proved fast on his feet for his size and demonstrated that he knows something about the boxing game.

On the other hand, Godfrey has fallen a long way. Up until Monday night the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission refused to recognize a world heavyweight champion until he had beaten the younger circuit. Following the negro's bout with Carnera the commission refused this contention, declaring they now recognized Max Schmeling as world champion.

The debate with regard to whether or not the baseballs used in major league games are of this year this year before still goes on. It began in April, when the first home runs were hit, and it continues to-day while the Ruths, Kleins, Gehrigs, and their rapidly swelling total of four-base blows.

In spite of the American League having such a run of sluggers as Ruth, Gehrig, Simmons, Fox, Jolley and a few more, the National League totals gradually pull away from the younger circuit. All of which has bred an idea in the brain of the aforementioned Ruth that the pellets thrown to the National League batters contained more "rabbit" than the variety used in the American League.

In Cincinnati recently the Yankees went through an exhibition game with the Reds. In batting practice prior to the contest, the Yanks were pitched the regulation National League baseballs, while Cincinnati batted only those made for American League use. Some of the Ruppert Riffers drove their hits farther than the Howeymen were able to do. The suspicion in the back of Ruth's head grew.

Get this—here is the payoff. Both brands of baseballs are made in the same factory. The spinning ball used in the National League, and the Reach ball for American League use are made in the Reach factory at Philadelphia. The same machines make the balls, and wind the yarn around the centre of both brands. Only when the spheres reach the covering department a trace of change. The cover of the ball is sewed on with black and "d" thread and the center with red and blue thread. The quality of the thread is the same.

Tom Shibe, president of the Philadelphia Athletics, and also an executive in the Reach company, policy told Babe Ruth that he was talking through his bonnet in a statement issued the other day. Shibe's statement disclosed that the only difference lay in the color of the thread and the label printed on the cover. The only difference in the color of the thread and the label printed on the cover, or official of any club wishes to see exactly how these balls are made and the marvelous care that is taken to make them identical, let him step into our factory, which is always open to him, states the Reach executive.

Even while all this chatter about lively baseballs is going about, Adolfo Luque, Uncle Robbie's veteran moundsman, goes right on pitching brilliant victories that keep the Brooklyn Robins safely perched on the top bough of the National League tree. When the little, sad-faced Cuban with the grayling looks blanked the Cubs with only four hits recently, his 1910 record showed six victories and no defeats.

"What a pleasure it is to watch old Luque throw that onion," exclaimed the Round Robin joyously. "With most of our young fellows nowadays,

WILLIAMS AND SIMPSON WORK SIDE BY SIDE

Two Great Sprinters Work Out at Vancouver For Giant Meet on July 1

Simpson May Become Quarter-mile; Percy Looks Good in Practice Runs

Vancouver, June 25.—George Simpson, lanky sprinter from Columbus, Ohio, and Percy Williams, Vancouver's slim speedster, have been working out almost side by side at Brockton Point in preparation for their big clash at Hastings Park Dominion Day. Simpson arrived from Seattle on Monday afternoon and half an hour later was on the cinder path at Brockton. Percy, who had been at the Great Northern station to greet his rival, had arrived at the track just a few minutes before and was going through his paces.

Simpson, a quiet and likable fellow, has a world of style and a long stride that carries him over the ground at a tremendous pace. He breezed over 150 yards at a good speed, but the workout was just in the nature of a limbering-up.

Williams looks good. Percy, using the 100-yard straightaway while Simpson trotted around the oval, didn't look so bad either. The Olympic champion is moving nicely and seems to be just about at his peak. He took everything that Godfrey could give and was still going in for more. He proved fast on his feet for his size and demonstrated that he knows something about the boxing game.

On the other hand, Godfrey has fallen a long way. Up until Monday night the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission refused to recognize a world heavyweight champion until he had beaten the younger circuit. Canadian Press
Wimbledon, England, June 25.—Big Bill Tilden, veteran ace of the United States tennis forces, scored a decisive victory over his youthful countryman, John Van Ryn, 7-5, 6-4, 6-1, to-day in the British championships.

Gregory Mangin, youthful player from Newark, N.J., opened play with a decisive victory over the Argentine, R. Miki, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2. The American's net attack, supported by fine work off his back hand and a strong service, kept him in command from start to finish.

H. W. "Bunny" Austin, one of the British favorites, came through successfully against Pierre Landry of France, 6-0, 6-3, 6-2. The American's net attack, supported by fine work off his back hand and a strong service, kept him in command from start to finish.

George Lott Jr. of Chicago continued his brilliant advance by defeating Harry O. Hopman, Australian Davis Cup player, 7-5, 6-4, 6-3, in the third round of the men's singles. Helen Wills Moody won from her English opponent, Miss Elsie Goldsborough, 6-1, 6-3, in her third round match to-day.

Mrs. Moody's third round victory was marked by her customary slow start. She was forced to duce in the first three games, dropping the third, but then served a better game and was not seriously pressed.

Miss Goldsborough won the fourth and sixth games of the second set on her own service.

The second ranking American woman star, Helen Jacobs, defeated Miss Mollie, England, 6-3, 6-1.

Mrs. Bennett Beaten
Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall, English star, was eliminated by Madame Rene Mathieu of France in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3.

Betty Nuthall, nineteen-year-old English girl, disposed of Miss Y. Lyle, 6-2, 6-4.

Elizabeth Ryan, England, defeated Miss V. H. Montgomery, England, 6-2, 6-4.

Mary Greaf of Kansas City, Mo., won a hard fought match from Miss L. E. Mesurier of Australia, 6-2, 2-6, 7-5.

Mrs. Phoebe Watson, who started in the British victory in the Wimbledon Cup tennis matches with the United States, has been forced by illness to withdraw from all tournament play. Britain's first ranking woman player previously scratched from the singles of the British championship, to-day announced her withdrawal from the doubles in which she was entered with Kitty McKane Godfrey. Her illness has taken a serious turn and a specialist has been called in.

Mrs. Watson was the only player this year to seriously extend Helen Wills Moody, the American holder of the Wimbledon crown.

Giants Purchase Harry Rosenberg In $40,000 Deal

New York, June 25.—The New York Giants to-day announced the purchase of Harry Rosenberg, star outfielder, from the Mission club of the Pacific Coast League in a $40,000 deal.

In confirming the transaction, Charles A. Stoneham, president of the Giants, said the Mission club would receive $25,000 in cash and two players, to be delivered in the spring of 1931, each valued at $7,500.

Rosenberg has been playing sensational ball, recent averages showing him to be hitting close to the 400 mark.

Weather permitting the Jokers and Eagles will meet in the Senior Amateur League ball game at the Royal Athletic Park this evening. The game will start at 6.15 o'clock and as both teams are badly in need of a win a good battle is looked for.

The Jokers have dropped into third place and at present are only one game ahead of the last place Eagles. Holden is expected to pitch for the Jokers to-night, while Brouseau, who turned back last year's champions two weeks ago, will occupy the mound for the Eagles.

NEW ALLEYS TO BE READY IN SEPTEMBER

Rapid Progress Being Made on Construction of Olympic Bowling Alleys
Many Women's Teams Will Play This Season; "Mixed League" Will Be Organized

Rapid progress is being made by Fairfax Bros. with the construction of the fine new bowling alleys on Yates street, near Quadra Street. Excavation work has been practically completed and the laying of the cement for the foundation will be started within a few days.

Under present plans bowling at "The Olympic" will commence early in September. Tournament play will not commence until about two weeks later, so as to give both the tempo and five-pin artists a chance to limber up.

About thirty-five women's teams will compete this season, while it is planned to organize a "mixed league," in which teams composed of two men and three women will take part.

Organization of teams and leagues will commence next month, so that everything will be ready to start as soon as the new alleys are ready for play.

Tony Canzoneri In Win Over Grogan

Campbell's Victory Over Cunningham Is Feature of Tourney

Kingston Street Champion Beaten In Startling Upset, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2; Tim Martin and Lionel Backler Reach Semi-finals of Handicap Singles By Victories Over S. H. Ryall and Claude Sluggett, Respectively; Semi-finals and Quarter-finals Now Being Played.

Don Campbell's defeat of Gerald Cunningham was the most startling upset in the tennis championships yesterday at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club. Campbell, playing a game practically free from errors, swept into the semi-final round by a three-set victory over the Kingston Street champion at 6-1, 4-6, 6-2. Nine more matches were played but only one other went to three sets.

Campbell started at the commencement of the first game and got back Cunningham's forehand drives with remarkable ease, and did not have much trouble in taking his service which was functioning well. Cunningham depending upon his forehand to make top-heavy ground Campbell, fast too steady, and it was a pretty rare occasion when the winner put a ball out or into the net. Cunningham got his only game early in the first set, but Campbell finished off the set without losing any more. He continued into the second set and took the first game, but Cunningham stroking severely with his forehand took the second and third game to lead 2-1.

Campbell got one of the two following games to have Cunningham lead four to two, but took the seventh game to go one behind at 4-3. Cunningham continued to hold his service to lead 5-3, but Campbell, realising the importance of the next game, fought hard and made the score 5-4. Cunningham sensing the opportunity for capturing the second set, won and the score was one set all. He made a strong bid for the third set during the first four games, but Campbell got 4-3 and then 5-2, and Cunningham, after being down on the match game, rallied to secure the advantage, but overdrove to make the score 6-2 again. There were eight duce points in the last game and some long rallies, but it was Campbell who got the last shot back and the match was over.

MARTIN WINS AGAIN
In the men's handicap singles, Tim Martin went into the semi-final round by defeating S. H. Ryall in straight sets, 6-1, 6-4, and also meets Bonny Kirkbride in the top half of the draw.

Lionel Backler also advanced to the semi-final round by winning from Claude Sluggett who had previously eliminated Steve Jones. Both players were playing from the scratch mark, and Backler won by scores of 6-4, 11-8.

Doris Rines and Tom Christie defeated Norah Wilson and Dunbar in the handicap, mixed after a stirring three set encounter. Miss Wilson and Dunbar were minus one set point, while the winners received one half point in each game.

Cunningham and Hocking advanced to the semi-finals of the men's handicap doubles by defeating Steve Jones and Freddy Rubbra. The winners conceded two points per game.

There are three days of play left before the final, and all remaining matches are semi-finals or the quarter finals. To-morrow Marsh Gordon meets John Edwards in the semi-finals of the men's open singles. In the top half of the draw, while Don Campbell is due to meet Bud Hocking to-day in the other semi-final.

In the handicap doubles for men, Jones and Martin are to meet Edwards and Corfield to see who plays MacCallum and Gordon in the semi-final round.

Mary Campbell meets Mrs. Edwards in the women's open singles in one half, while Doreen Sayne and Mona Miller are meeting to see who plays Hope Leeming in the other half of the draw.

VETERANS START PLAY
The open men's doubles and the veteran's handicap singles and doubles started yesterday, and are expected to finish with the other events on Saturday. In the men's open MacCallum and Gordon were seeded first, and are in the top half with Isaacs and Campbell as their strongest opponents, with Cunningham and Hocking seeded second in the bottom section. Corfield and Edwards are the other pair in the bottom half.

CHANGES TO BE MADE IN TEST ELEVEN

Sutcliffe and Geary Unable to Play Against Australia in Second Match

Andrew Sandham Will Replace Sutcliffe; Harold Larwood Will Be Fit

London, June 25.—The English team which will meet Australia in the second cricket test match at Lord's, beginning on Friday next, will be very different from the eleven which won the first test at Trent Bridge. Yesterday the committee which selected the English side learned that Herbert Sutcliffe, Jack Hobbs's partner for the opening wicket, and George Geary, the bowler, could not play.

It was thought early yesterday that Harold Larwood, one of England's fast bowlers, who was taken ill at Trent Bridge, would be out of it, but his doctor gave him a clean bill of health and the English selectors committed promptly invited him to be at Lord's on the opening day. Andrew Sandham, Hobbs's opening partner for Surrey, has also been invited to hold himself in readiness to play. Sandham, one of the veterans of the game, and has played against Australia, West Indies and South Africa.

RELIABLE PLAYER
He was very successful in the West Indies last winter. He and Hobbs have made a century and more for the first wicket on many occasions. In addition Sandham is one of the surest outfielders in England. The English team now consists of: Jack Hobbs, A. Sandham, Wally Hammond, Frank Woolley, Prince-Dulespohnji, Pat Hendren, A. P. F. Chapman (captain), Maurice Tate, Dick Tyldesley, George Duckworth, Harold Larwood and R. W. V. Robson. The exact eleven will be announced probably on the day of play.

The Australians are themselves giving a lot of careful consideration to their team. They would like to bolster the strength of their tail, but are at a loss how it can be improved from a batting point of view and not weakened as an attacking force. It is possible that A. Jackson or E. Beckett may be tried out. The former is a fine batsman and the latter is both a good bat and useful pinch bowler.

ing vs. Campbell; Jones and Martin vs. Corfield and Edwards; J. O. Brown vs. H. G. Garrett; Hills vs. Delver; Merston vs. Scott Mason.
6 p.m.—Miss Jackson and Miss Miss Swayne vs. Miss Phillips and Miss D. Rines; winner of Jones and Martin vs. Corfield and Edwards, vs. Gordon and MacCallum; Miss M. and M. Ritchie vs. Miss Edwards and Miss Miller; W. H. Kirkbride vs. Walton.

Hamilton Tigers Are Expected To Play In Victoria

Canadian Rugby Champions Will Appear In Fall

Dominion Titleholders To Make Tour of Western Canada; Team Will Play In Victoria Providing Satisfactory Financial Arrangements Can Be Made; Practically All of Last Year's Regulars To Make Trip With Bengals.

Followers of Canadian rugby in Victoria have a bright prospect in store for them this fall, as it is more than likely that the Hamilton Tigers, champions of Canada, will perform here in September, according to an announcement made this morning by Dick Wilson who has sponsored the Canadian code in this city.

In a press dispatch from Toronto to-day it was stated that the Bengals had definitely decided to make the western tour this fall. Last week Wilson attended a meeting of the Big Four in Vancouver, and it was decided to bring the Hamilton team to Victoria, providing the necessary financial arrangements can be made. Wilson stated this morning that he expected to iron out this question so that the Dominion titleholders would perform here.

Appearance of the Tigers in Victoria would do a lot to boost the game. This team is famous throughout Canada for its playing strength, and local fans would have a chance to watch a great machine in action.

Toronto, Ont., June 25.—The Toronto Globe says to-day in its sporting column:

"Hamilton Tigers have definitely decided to make a tour of western Canada during the month of September, and will likely play in Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver. Nine years ago the Bengals made a similar journey westward and ran roughshod over their opponents. Now, however, conditions are different, and the Canadian champions cannot afford to underestimate the strength of the teams which will oppose them.

Hamilton officials are hopeful that nearly all the 1929 regulars will be able to make the trip, although they know that "Buck" Welch, their star kicker, will be among the missing. Welch is now in Montreal, and plans to play for the Wings Wheelers in the big four race. Eddie Wright, another brilliant player, has located in Seattle, but otherwise the team will likely be intact.

Tigers are not scheduled to engage in a league game until October 1, and will therefore have ample time to "recuperate" from the effects of the long journey to and from the west."

Ball Showing Great Form As He "Works Up"

Winnipeg, Man., June 24.—Jimmy Ball, slim-legged peer of Canadian quarter miler and one of the greatest in the world, is showing Winnipeg sprinters his heels only as he "works up" to his favorite distance. Ball, who has not run a full quarter this year, flashed down his lane from scratch in the 100-yard handicap in the Winnipeg Athletic Association championship yesterday evening in 9.4 seconds.

Gradually building up his endurance, Ball, who lost the Olympic 400-metre championship by an eye-lash at Amsterdam, figures to be in perfect condition for the British games at Hamilton where he will carry Canadian colors in the quarter mile.

Bobby Jones On Golf

There is one thing which I wish people would stop talking about and writing about because I think it causes more confusion in a beginner's mind than any one thing connected with golf. That thing is nothing more or less than the theory of the pendulum putting stroke. It has been described and expressed in different ways, but when boiled down each demonstration resolves itself into a thing absolutely impossible of accomplishment so long as human beings are built as we know them.

TWO REQUIREMENTS

The important things in putting are that the putter should be faced properly when it strikes the ball and that it should be striking in the direction of the hole. At these two requirements are met it makes no difference in the world whether or not the club was faced properly or moved along the projected line of the putt throughout the backswing.

The position of address, being a position of rest, is the logical place to secure a proper facing of the club. The player has opportunity then to set the club square to the line or to swing the shaft in order to maintain the position. After that his problem is to swing the club backward and forward in such a way that the club will return to the ball aligned just as it was when it was swung away. If the face of the club opens a little going back it opens more as it comes forward.

The simplest view of the putting stroke is that it is in miniature just like any other stroke in the game. Slight alterations in grip and stance may be made to lessen the chances of the more delicate mechanism going astray, but the principle remains the same. The most valuable thing any of us can acquire is the ability to reproduce the same stroke time and time again with the same opening and the same closing motions, so that striking in the proper direction can be consistently relied upon. In accomplishing this the player is free to adopt his own method, but I shall set down my own for what it is worth.

Hoover Prepares To Veto Measure

Washington, June 25.—President Hoover yesterday renewed his attack on the World War Veterans' Relief Bill, declaring it was bad legislation.

At his regular Tuesday press conference the President said the bill passed sixty-six to six by the Senate on Monday was not formulated any more in the interest of the veterans than of the taxpayers.

He expressed doubt the country would support such legislation, describing it as wasteful and discriminatory.

It would affect 75,000 veterans and was unfair to others who would not be benefited by it, the President said, and violated the integrity of the government.

OAKLANDS SCHOOL OUTING ENJOYED

Two Hundred and Fifty Pupils
Spend Day at Willows Park

About 250 pupils of Oaklands School and their parents attended the picnic held at the Willows Park on Saturday afternoon. The event was held under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association, who had arranged a long programme of sports, games, etc., which kept the group in high spirits until dusk.

The competition in the children's events was very keen, while much fun and excitement was caused by the adults contests, particularly the ladies' nail driving contest, in which the ladies were victors over the men.

After tea games were held which provided enjoyment for those who took part, and much amusement for those who preferred to remain spectators. A supply of ice cream and candy for the children was on hand.

EX-SOLDIER
THANKS KRUSCHEN
FOR HIS SUCCESS

This is the story of Mr. Chas. F. Kemp, released from the Army in 1921, at the age of 45, without friends, money or influence. A difficult proposition for any man, but Mr. Kemp had the will to succeed. He also had Kruschen Salts. His letter shows how Kruschen helped him to succeed.

"When I got out of the Army and restarted my business here in 1921, I was, at the age of 45, a must put up with eight of my life if I was to come back, and I did not get one penny from Government or anyone else to get back. I am most delighted to tell you that I am well back. Ever since I started this business I have had to keep 'Fighting Fit' and I have done so."

I open this shop at 7 a.m., never after, and as a rule, it is 6-45, and I come a few miles to do it. I have a very nice car and I keep it nice myself. Well, perhaps even YOU will say 'How do you do it?' My answer is, 'Well, it's one's liver is not right, one is not real fit, and I have a very slow liver, so every morning I use Kruschen Salts.'

"I am 53 years of age and I say without fear of contradiction, that I owe my fitness to Kruschen Salts, taken every morning, year in and year out."

year after year, first thing in the morning."

Kruschen causes the liver to release its natural stream of antiseptic fluid, which prevents food fermentation and the formation of poisons in the intestines.

At the same time, this fluid stimulates the system to gentle, regular action, so preventing constipation and the serious conditions that follow in its wake.

Start taking the tiny pinch of Kruschen Salts yourself. In a week's time you will see that you have hit upon the very soul and secret of vigorous, vital health.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores and 75c. per bottle, and is manufactured by E. Griffiths Hughes, Ltd., Manchester, Eng. (Established 1766). Importers: McCallum Bros., Ltd., Toronto.

KOREA MARU HERE TO-DAY FROM ORIENT

Big Japanese Liner Makes
First Trip Here in North Pacific
Passenger Service

Brings Interesting List of
White Passengers and Picturesque Orientals

On her first voyage across the North Pacific to Victoria and Seattle, in which route she will operate in future, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Korea Maru docked at the Rithet Piers here this morning at 6.30 o'clock from ports in China and Japan. She proceeded to Seattle shortly after 9 o'clock.

Capt. K. Yoshida, master of the ship, reported a fine eleven-day passage across the Pacific from Yokohama. The ship made splendid time and the weather was good, although cloudy, as the ship approached this coast. Capt. Yoshida was formerly master of the liner Yokohama Maru and is well known here and in Seattle. The Korea Maru is a sister ship to the Siberia Maru, which arrived here first in December and has made two round voyages since that time. She is a ship of 10,800 tons displacement and has spacious accommodation for first class, tourist class and third class passengers. Her rooms and public lounges are handsomely appointed, and she is expected to become a popular ship on the North Pacific run. While operating between San Francisco and the Orient by way of Honolulu she was a well-known liner and carried many distinguished passengers during the many years she was on that route. After being taken off that service to give way to the three new motor liners she was completely overhauled in Japan.

GOOD LIST

There were 123 passengers in all classes aboard the Korea Maru when she docked this morning. Of these twenty were in the first class, fifty in the tourist and sixty-two in the third class. Seven first class, eighteen tourist, cabin and thirty-third, left the ship here while the remainder proceeded to Seattle. The passengers leaving here will proceed to Vancouver to-night or to-morrow.

Besides many white passengers the Korea brought an interesting list of Orientals. In the first cabin was a young Hindu, immaculately dressed, with the exception of his white turban, in European costume. He went on to Seattle, and will leave that city to-night for the east.

Among the third class passengers leaving here were several diminutive Japanese maidens in native dress. They tripped down the gangway all smiling, attired in flowing pink kimonos with huge colored flowers embroidered on them. Their hair was beautifully coiffured and was done up in puffs and little balls pinned with colored sticks. On their feet they wore tiny wooden sandals. Both these passengers were on their way to the mainland, where they will become domestics in some wealthy home.

The Korea brought in a fair cargo in her holds, about seventy-five tons being discharged here. For Seattle there were about 2,500 tons of general cargo, including 2,115 bales of raw silk. The ship also carried a good parcel of mail.

FRESNO CITY DOCKS HERE

Reardon Smith Motorship Taking Lumber Cargo; Pacific Maru and C.N. Boat Sail
On her first visit to this port, the Reardon Smith motorship, Fresno City, docked at Rithet Piers last night at 11 o'clock from Vancouver and New Westminster. This morning at 8 o'clock dock workers commenced loading 335,000 feet of Vancouver Island timber for the United Kingdom. Henry King, of King Brothers, local shipping agent, is handling the ship during her stay here. Mr. King expects to clear the ship for Tacoma to-morrow afternoon where she will complete loading.

Capt. Dan Davies is master of the Fresno City. He was last here several years ago aboard the Great City. During his stay here he is renewing old acquaintances among the shipping fraternity of Victoria.

After taking on 700 tons of scrap iron and 100,000 feet of lumber here for the Orient, the Japanese freighter, Pacific Maru, left the Ogden Point piers last night at 8 o'clock and proceeded to New Westminster, where she will complete her cargo.

The Canadian National freighter, Canadian Ranger was at the Ogden Point all day yesterday taking on 300,000 feet of lumber for Montreal and Quebec. She docked yesterday morning at 9 o'clock and left at midnight last night.

Niagara Outbound To Antipodes With Light List To-day

Outbound to Honolulu, Suva, Auckland and Sydney, the Canadian-Australian liner, Niagara, will be in port for a few hours late this afternoon. In command of Capt. T. V. Hill, the liner sailed from Vancouver at noon to-day and was expected off the breakwater shortly after 5 o'clock. After taking on local passengers, light cargo, and mails, she will put to sea for Honolulu about 7.30 o'clock this evening.

The Niagara had only a small list of passengers in all classes this voyage, as this is the season when travel is routed from the Antipodes to North America. It will switch towards the end of next month and from then until well on into September every outgoing liner will be filled to capacity.

The motorship, Aorangi, is the same service, will sail from Sydney to-morrow for Victoria and Vancouver. After calls at Auckland, Suva and Honolulu she will arrive here on July 18 with a large list of passengers.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, June 25.—The new service between Grays Harbor, Portland and Los Angeles, inaugurated Monday by Sudden and Christensen Company, will be handled by the steamships Catherine G. Sudden and Edna Christensen, and they will operate on a ten-day schedule, it was announced here yesterday. Freight will be carried at an advance of 7 1/2 cents for 100 pounds from Los Angeles, above the regular San Francisco rate, which will amount to considerable saving to Grays Harbor merchants. Hereafter freight for the Harbor district had to be transhipped, entailing considerable extra expense.

Advices received yesterday were that the steamship Victoria of the Alaska Steamship Company sailed from Nome for Seattle Sunday night with a large general cargo, express shipments of gold and furs and a passenger list of sixty. The vessel will call at Dutch Harbor, Akutan and False Pass on the way south.

AT THE THEATRES

LIFE STORY OF DOMINION STAR IS INTERESTING

George Arliss' autobiography, "Up the Years from Bloomsbury," is rated as one of the best selling books of all classes during the last two years. It has gone into many editions, after having been first published in "The Ladies Home Journal." Arliss is now appearing in "The Green Goddess" at the Dominion Theatre.

Theatre all this week. This is one of the stage plays which made him famous, now made into a Warner Bros. and Vitaphone production, directed by Al Green. The sale of Arliss' biography is considered not so much a tribute to his ability as an actor, which is a recognized fact, but to his skill as a writer. According to the publishers, the charm and novelty of the volume, dealing with his early life in England, his struggles as an actor, and his meeting with Florence, who later became his wife, constitute the main drawing power of the volume.

PREDICTS SUCCESS FOR AUSTIN CAR

Most Economical Automobile
Built To-day, Says Lord de
Clifford

Los Angeles, July 25.—"America does not fully appreciate the Austin car and probably will not until Americans realize that it is probably the most economical automobile to operate that is built to-day—either in this country or abroad."

So said Lord de Clifford when interviewed recently. Lord de Clifford, who came to America to visit the races at the Indianapolis race track and to study America's ways in the motor world, drove his Legends car to California from New York.

"In Europe—in England, especially, we are proud of the Austin car. The Englishman, we feel, can be rightfully elated over his contribution of the Austin car to the motoring public."

The Test
A—Your maid plays the violin. Has she got a good ear?
B—Oh, yes; it'll fit any keyhole in the house.

POPULAR STARS IN "MOLLY AND ME" AT PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

"Molly and Me" is the feature attraction to-day at the Playhouse Theatre. It is the first picture to record the voice of the Belle Bennett, who sings and talks, as do Brown and Miss Vaughn. The story is from an original by Lois Leeson and Albert Ray directed. The sound sequences were recorded by the RCA Photophone and Hugo Rosenfeld prepared the musical score.

LAURA LA PLANTE AND JOHN BOLES AT THE CAPITOL

Laura La Plante, who is co-starred with John Boles, "the golden voice of the screen," in Universal's majestic all-sound epic of the French Revolution, "Captain of the Guard," which is playing at the Capitol Theatre all this week, proved herself a great dramatic actress as "Magnolia" in "Show Boat," thus winning the right to her present role as the flaming girl-leader of the revolutionists known as "The Torch." This romantic screen spectacle was directed by John Robertson, with Sam de Grasse, James Marcus, Lionel Belmore, Stuart Holmes, Evelyn Hall, Claude Fleming, George Hackathorne and others among the supporting cast.

ARCH-CRIMINAL AND GREAT SLEUTH MEET IN COLISEUM FILM

Readers of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's famous Sherlock Holmes tales remember the character of the arch-criminal, Moriarty, in whose pursuit the master detective did some of his most difficult sleuthing.

The great detective and the elusive criminal meet, for the first time in "The Return of Sherlock Holmes," the all-talking feature at the Coliseum Theatre to-day. Clive Brook is in the role of Sherlock Holmes and Harry T. Morey portrays Moriarty.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)
Winnipeg, June 25.—Wheat: Steady opening firm and about unchanged this morning and after holding steady during the first few minutes commenced climbing and prices eventually registered a rise of two cents from the previous close. This full upturn was not held, but the market was higher throughout with the bulk of the business being done at about one cent higher.

While overnight export sales in Manitoba were reported as small, some business had been worked and there was also good buying in the July by continental houses during the first period and at the same time there was considerable short covering. The market acted nervously at times and was erratic.

There was only a quiet demand for cash wheat from some American mills for No. 5 which some sales were made at 1/2 to 1/4 better. Otherwise spreads were unchanged. Export flour demand is very indifferent and domestic only fair. Export sales were estimated by seaboard at 700,000 bushels, American winter and Manitobas.

There were numerous good showers in the United States spring wheat territory, and some scattered showers in Canada. Liverpool closed 1/2 to 1/4 lower. Broomhall reports the weather in Europe mostly favorable with harvesting started in the earliest countries. Winnipeg futures closed 1/2 to 1/4 higher.

Can see nothing in the situation at present to bring about any sustained upturn.

Cash grain: These markets continue very dull and featureless with the trade passing largely unheeded. Cash wheat firm on their own account, barley has been thoroughly liquidated and nobody wants to sell at present prices.

Demand for cash grain is confined to a moderate business in low grades with Eastern Canada.

Flax: This market was weak closing 1/2 to 1/4 lower. The trade very light and without feature.

Note: Liverpool due 1/2 lower to unchanged based on Winnipeg.

BIG CARRY-OVER OF WHEAT THREATENING U.S. MARKETS FIRMER TO-DAY; BUT OILS OFF

Chicago, June 25.—The Journal of Commerce to-day says:

"Some of the bears are predicting 75 per cent wheat, based on the belief that Canada will have a larger crop than last year, which means a big surplus for export.

"U.S. production of wheat promises to be somewhat less than last year, but there is a carry-over of about 250,000,000 bushels of old wheat in this country, which amounts to nearly one-third of the 1929 production in the U.S.

"Europe is not buying wheat in the manner familiar to the trade a few years back. Her purchases now are for immediate use. This is because of a stringency and big supplies in North America. Wheat is now at lowest price in years and lack of volume buying was disclosed.

"However, there were a number of traders who bought on break in the bear market. Technical condition of the market is now in favor of the buyer and that a change in character of crop or export news will react sharply to the benefit of the bull. Others see no hope of a substantial rally and expect wheat to go still lower."

Liverpool, June 25.—Broomhall to-day says:

"Russia is now expected to have a large crop of wheat, except in Siberia, where conditions are still doubtful.

"It is reported that Russian rye can be purchased c.i.f. Rotterdam, at less than Chicago present July price."

Chicago, June 25.—Donovan, in his report to-day says:

"On my trip to the northwest I found wheat had a stunted growth in some of the dry sections, but elsewhere showed up fair to good stand. Hot weather set in last Thursday, but there could be serious damage heavy rains fell so as to relieve the dry situation for some time to come. Early stages of black blight are in evidence, but it is my opinion that its damage will not be so great as it was last year. It is my opinion that its damage will not be so great as it was last year. Toronto, June 25.—Though the position of the list showed a little change from noon to the close, some renewed strength became evident. But the market continued to display an unusual lack of buoyancy in the afternoon session to-day.

Rudon Bay gained 1.25 to 8.25, but the rights continued to drop, selling at 1 cent. Nickel moved up a half to 23.50, and Noranda held unchanged at 21.00.

Falconbridge held a small early lead, but Sherritt-Gordon and Ventures closed off 1/2 each and Sudbury Basin down 10. Pend Oreille dropped 25 to 11.15; Abana 8 and Amulet 3. Losses in the gold varied from 1 to 2 cents. Trucking receding slightly higher. Noranda turned soft, dropping 10 to 1.15, and Home was off 1/2, Calmont 11, Alberta 10 and Ajax Oil 7.

Freehold No. 2 on production test showing between 125 and 150 barrels at present, but expected to reach more than 150 barrels when final adjustments are made.

Calmont No. 3—J. C. Dallas, managing director, in a press statement, said well is confidently expected to yield approximately 800 barrels daily on steady production. Meanwhile, tests are proceeding in attempts to coordinate back pressure and temperature of gas. They expect a steady production basis will be reached shortly.

Calmont No. 1 is drilling 160 feet in the lime at 5,631 feet. This is the next Calmont well expected to reach production. Equipment will be moved to No. 3 for continuance of the test at 4,404 feet.

Calmont No. 4 is drilling 4,404 feet. When this well is completed, equipment will be moved to No. 11. Calmont No. 7 is expected to strike lime in a few days. Last reported in Picher Chert.

Eastrock No. 1 is standing cemented. Eastrock struck the Dalhousie sands at 2,500 feet and has drilled 56 feet further. In the Kootenays and Andes the well out 1,200 feet of recurring formation. The logging corresponds with Mayland No. 2 to the west and Eastrock No. 3 to the east.

Eastrock No. 3. Operators expect to hit lime within 300 feet.

Commonwealth well, half a mile south of Deles, has drilled to 150 feet in Madison limestone at 2,770 feet without getting production. Exploration in the Deles well is being pursued.

Highway No. 1 has drilled 150 feet in Madison limestone at 2,770 feet without getting production. Exploration in the Deles well is being pursued.

Angus, Wain Valley has had trouble with crooked hole. The crew is running ten-inch casing to 2,870 feet. The well is still in the lower Kootenays and looking for Home sands. Longing has corresponded with Turner Valley characteristics although formation in some cases have proven slightly thicker.

"Some day," she said, "when things are different, I want to hear you speak of my father. To-night," she shivered, "I couldn't bear it."

"That's all right," he said kindly. "There will be plenty of time to talk, I hope, before we are through."

"Will there?" she sighed. "I wonder! Sometimes I am afraid. Oh, look! The pale road which had led for miles across the empty spaces of the blue, wound ahead through low hills whose warm dark masses were touched to a rim of radiance above by the light of the rising moon. In another moment the moon had risen and poured its magic over the world, turning dimness to fair planes of glory, spaced by shadows deeper and more mysterious, yet more clear, than any seen by day. Bunches appeared out of velvet where none had been, and a tiny domed Khoubas, the shrine of some dead saint, whose white upon a rise of ground to the right, where before it had stood unseen. And Leslie, a moon-lover, turning to meet comprehension in her eyes, found the moon-wonderer peering for him in the pale face shadowed by the black hair under the pale veil. For a moment she was neither English nor Spanish, but an incarnation of the white glory of the Eastern night.

started erect. The sound that had startled her reached him—the mistakable sound of marching feet, of troops marching in the night.

He put on the brake, and stopped the car as the head of a column came in sight, marching at right angles to him. In an instant he would be plainly in view. Spanish troops marching south!

The girl's hand was on the wheel "Drive on," she urged. "Drive on, leave it to me."

As the car ran out from the shadow of the valley into the full moonlight Concha threw back her head, leaning forward, a mere boy, at the head of the column ran forward, waving his sword. "Halt!" he commanded.

The car came to a standstill. The column continued its march. The officer was at its head. "Your papers," "No, no," Concha broke in swiftly in Spanish with an air of authority. "The car is mine. Where is your superior, the Duke? He is in command to-night? Has he already passed?"

Evidently puzzled, the boy saluted with respect. "He comes at the head of the next battalion, senora. In but a moment he will pass."

Leslie, holding the wheel with a smile, said to himself, "I shall not back the car a little?"

"Not at all, senora," the boy was deeply thrilled at this meeting with the lady of whom he had heard. "I will give the men new courage to see the face of a Spanish lady—and such this young man, who with a swift movement had dismounted, and with his arm through his bridle, stood bowing to the girl at his side.

should I know an Englishman's thoughts?"

She was out of the motor. Her voice was stifled; her face hidden in the folds of her hair. "Good-bye. If I've hurt you, I've at least helped you on your way." She moved back with a gesture of finality.

Desperate, he leaned towards her. "Not good-bye. We shall meet! Say that we shall meet!"

But already she was moving off, and he heard the Arabic words, the text of fatallah, like a high note, like: "Ma sha Allah! As God wills."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Bunt's Ball

(Copyright, 1930)
By HOWARD E. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily was so much pleased at the way his giant lettuce had hidden him away from the fox, and so delighted that Bunt's ball had first found out the way of cuddling up in the green leaves, that the rabbit gentleman wanted to do something to repay the kindness.

"All you need do for me," said the lettuce which had a way of talking, "to give me plenty of water when I am thirsty."

"What can I do for you, Bunt, because you are so clever as to show me how to hide out in a head of lettuce?" asked Mr. Longears.

"If you would get me a rubber ball at the toy store I would like that very much," said the little orphan rabbit child.

"You shall have the largest rubber ball I can buy!" cried Uncle Wiggily, looking at his pink nose.

"With a hole in it," asked Bunt.

"Yes, with a hole in it," answered the bunny uncle.

"And one that squirts water?" asked Bunt.

"Yes," answered her uncle. "I'll get you a rubber ball that squirts water. Only you promise not to squirt any water on me."

"Oh, I'll promise that all right!" cried Bunt. "Come on now, Uncle Wiggily, and buy me that nice, big, rubber ball that squirts water. Hurry, Uncle Wiggily!"

A stream of water struck the dog gentleman in the eye.

"But no baby talk!" said Mr. Longears shaking his paw at Bunt.

"No baby talk!" agreed the little Wiggily. Mr. Longears agreed Bunt just that much baby talk that those two words "Uncle Wiggily" and "Bunt" were soon the two, holding paws were popping to the toy store and there Uncle Wiggily bought Bunt a large rubber ball with a hole in it, the largest in the shop.

"Will it squirt water?" asked Bunt.

"Yes, it will," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll get you a rubber ball that squirts water. Only you promise not to squirt any water on me."

"Oh, I'll promise that all right!" cried Bunt. "Come on now, Uncle Wiggily, and buy me that nice, big, rubber ball that squirts water. Hurry, Uncle Wiggily!"

"O, what a lovely squirter I'm going to have!" cried Bunt as she took out the ball and gave it a squeeze. "Zip," a stream of water struck the dog gentleman right in the eye.

"Oh!" he howled.

"Oh!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, I beg your pardon!" gasped Bunt.

"I thought you promised me you wouldn't squirt on anybody if I got you a rubber ball," cried Mr. Longears.

"I promised not to squirt on you. I didn't promise not to squirt on Mr. Dog," said Bunt. "But really I didn't mean to. Bunt's ball just loved to squirt. It was just lovely. Doesn't it?"

"I'll say it was!" chuckled the dog gentleman, wiping his eyes.

"You must be careful after this, Bunt," warned Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, I will," promised the little orphan rabbit. "Come on, Uncle Wiggily, let's hurry home. I want to show Nurse Jane how my ball squirts!"

Soon they were back at the hollow stump bungalow. Bunt still had plenty of water in the rubber ball, for she had squirted none out on the way home. Uncle Wiggily watched her carefully. Once the little orphan rabbit seemed about to squeeze the ball as they passed a Police Dog. But Uncle Wiggily in a low voice said, "Tut! Tut! And Bunt tutted and didn't squirt.

But when she saw Nurse Jane standing on the back stoop, Bunt ran up to her, holding out the ball and cried: "See what Uncle Wiggily bought me!"

The milkmaid lady did not have on her glasses, so she couldn't see very well. She looked at her new ball and what Bunt had said:

"What is it?" Then, not knowing quite what it was, Nurse Jane squeezed Bunt's ball and—"Zip!" Out shot a stream of water all over Uncle Wiggily.

"My goodness!" squeaked Nurse Jane. "I didn't do it! I didn't do it! Did I?" cried Bunt, dancing around on one paw. "I didn't do it, Uncle Wiggily. I didn't do it, Bunt. Bunt!"

chuckled Mr. Longears, wiping his pink nose dry. "But please take that ball from Nurse Jane. So Bunt did and after that she only squirted water on the flowers. And if the garage man will give the kitchen boiler some gas so it can take the dining room table for a ride around the block, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the water ball.

This tired man doesn't even suspect his whole trouble is constipation

The sluggishness which besets us all at times—clouded judgment—hazy vision—brain fogged—physical slackness—may all be due to unsuspected constipation. So beware of incomplete elimination.

There is no other way that will keep your system so properly cleansed as a dash of ENO'S "Fruit Salt" in a glass of water night or morning.

Refuse anything offered to you as a substitute—there is none.

Happiness

Dorothy Dix

Finds
Success
Depends on Good Start

HERE ARE a few hints for the June bridegroom: Remember, son, that everything depends upon getting away to a good start. The first three months of matrimony will establish your status in the family as either the head of the house or the doormat beyond all possibility of its ever being altered.

If you let your bride run you into debt buying furniture you cannot afford when you start to housekeeping you will be paying the installment man as long as you live. If you let her begin by feeding you out of paper bags and tin cans you will spend the balance of your days eating delicatessen food and taking a typewriter's remedies. If you let her discover that she can weep and pout her way into getting anything she wants you will put in the next thirty or forty years trying to side-step a woman's tantrums.

So, train up a wife on the honeymoon in the way she should go and when you both settle down into the real business of matrimony she will not depart from it. Begin by making her your real partner. Don't assume that you are making a chivalrous gesture in bearing all the burdens and assuming all of the responsibilities and doing all of the worrying and that she should never have to bother her pretty little head about any of the sordid details of life and that she should be given everything she wants, no matter whether you have the money to pay for it or not. And don't treat her as if she was just a doll to be dressed up or a toy to be played with.

Treat your wife as you would a man if you had gone into a business deal with him in which you had invested everything you had on earth. Talk over the money end of the proposition with her and make her see that the success of the concern depends just as much on her thrift as it does on what you earn. Show her how to budget her allowance. Teach her how to get the most out of the money she spends.

Don't put up with bad housekeeping. Any woman who can read can learn how to cook. Make your wife realize that you consider her as lazy and incompetent if she lies down on her end of the job, as she would think you if you quit on yours, and that it is just as much her part to make a comfortable home as it is yours to furnish the raw material for making the home. And don't stand for nagging. Any man who eats poisonous food and gets up and gets his own breakfast while an able-bodied wife lies abed and snoozes until noon and who is so henpecked he dare not call his soul his own has only himself to blame for it.

Develop your wife into being a companion to you. Cultivate chumminess with her. Think of marriage as an investment you make for the long pull and on which you want to be collecting dividends in your old age. The reason so many middle-aged couples are estranged is because they have never deliberately developed any mutual interest, and so when the flare of youth and passion is gone they have nothing in common and bore each other to tears.

Don't make that mistake. From the very day you are married make your wife share your ambitions and your amusements. Talk over your business with her. Talk over your plans with her. Get her to read the books you are reading and play the games you are playing. Make her feel that she has to keep up with you. You can do this if she isn't an utter fool.

And take an interest in her interests. Discuss her domestic problems with her. Encourage her club activities. Advise with her about her clothes. Don't just sit up behind a paper and grunt when she tries to tell you what she is thinking. If you are more intelligent than she is; if you are better educated; if you have a wider knowledge of the world, drag her up to your level.

Don't be one of the couples who really part company at the cradle of the first baby, the husband going into a world of business, of far-flung plans, of ambitions, of contacts that sharpen his wit and polish his manners and broaden his interests, while the wife goes into the kitchen and the nursery and gets duller and stupider and narrower every day. Why, there are plenty of husbands and wives, living side by side, who are in reality so far apart that they are not in telephoning distance of each other. And the calamity is of their own making, because they never made an effort to keep together.

See that your wife has plenty to do, plenty of good, hard, interesting, constructive work that will keep her busy and occupied and healthy and happy. Most men's ideal of being a good husband is to provide their wives with so many servants that they will have nothing to do but to get into mischief. Idleness is a woman's greatest curse. It gives her too much time to think about herself and her health and her emotions. It is the rich women with nothing to do who fill the sanatoriums and the divorce courts.

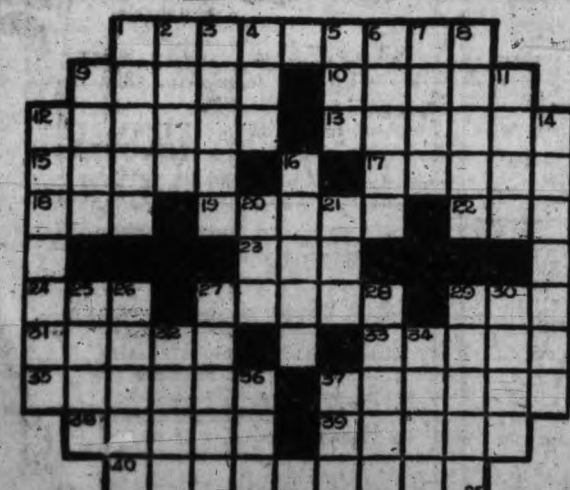

Do something to make your wife happy and glad she married you. Don't act as if just being married to you was all the joy any woman could possibly want and that she must be thrilled to death cooking and cleaning and baby-tending for you and watching you sit up and snore over the evening paper. Housework is dull and monotonous. Taking care of children is the most nerve-wearing occupation on earth. Break the strain by taking her out in the evenings as often as you can and giving her little treats and making her realize that her happiness means something to you.

Be just to your wife. Be generous. Encourage her to go about and have as many interests as she can. Make it part of your daily dozen to pay her a compliment and you will keep her on her knees thanking heaven that she got you for a husband instead of wondering whatever made her marry you.

Stomach Troubles Are Due to Acidity

Tells of Pleasant Home Treatment to Bring Swift Relief

So-called Stomach Troubles—Indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, sourness, etc., are, in probably nine cases out of ten, evidence of "too much acid in the stomach" souring the food, causing the formation of gas and starting acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes a full, oppressive burning feeling known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining. Get rid of Gas and Acidity, and you get rid of Indigestion.

To stop or prevent the sourness and gas, to neutralize the stomach acids and keep the stomach sweet and free from Indigestion, a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisulphate of Magnesia should be taken in a little water after eating or whenever gas, sourness, pain or acidity is felt. This quickly sweetens the stomach, neutralizes the acidity, stops the pain and is harmless and inexpensive to use.

Bisulphate of Magnesia, powder or tablets only, can be obtained from any drug store and its daily use keeps the stomach in fine condition, enabling it to do its work without the aid of artificial stimulants. (Adv.)

CONTEST FOR HOME GARDENS

Victoria Horticultural Society Invites Entries

Intending competitors in the home garden competition promoted by the Victoria Horticultural Society are advised to make their entries this week. This competition is open to any person residing within the two and a half mile circle, and classes have so been arranged whereby practically any size garden may compete, also to include those who employ a little occasional professional help.

Class A consists of gardens comprising 7,300 superficial feet and over, to which is given the silver cup donated by George Little, who this year ceases to compete, having last year won the cup outright. Class B takes care of the smaller gardens which must be under the above size. The challenge cup is awarded in this class. In class C the gardens are not restricted to size, and occasional paid help is permissible. A. Tyrrell donates the cup for this class, he having won the former cup outright. This donor is anxious to see the honor distributed consequently will not compete this year.

Substantial cash prizes are given in each class, and every competitor securing seventy-five per cent of total points, will receive award of merit. The main object of the competition is for educational purposes with a view towards greater efficiency in the art of decorative and productive gardening and the beautification of the city. In continuing this competition, the society hopes to inspire many garden enthusiasts to compete, also to create and stimulate interest in the beauty and usefulness of a good practical garden. The judging of the gardens is undertaken by the horticultural branch of the Department of Agriculture, and will be completed not later than one week previous to the annual show, which will enable all competitors to participate at that exhibition set for August 1 and 2. The three prize winning gardens of this competition will be entered in the garden competition of the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association, giving them the opportunity of further honors. A score card has been prepared which calls for arrangement and effect, quality of crops, selection of varieties and industry, neatness and freedom from pests. Full particulars are outlined in the prize list of the summer show, and are obtainable at all floral stores, or will be mailed to anyone interested by telephoning the secretary, F. E.
